STATE LEGISLATURE ENDS SESSION

YOUNG'S WORK IN EUROPE TO BE APPROVED

HAS FULLEST MORAL SUPPORT ON THIS SIDE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1929, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, May 8—Although the United States government is not yet called upon to express an official opinion about the Young plan for the compromise of reparation claims, there is no doubt that the American unofficial representatives at the Paris conference have the fullest moral support in their efforts to reach a settlement.

What Mr. Young has done is solely on his own responsibility and without consultation with the American government, but it is known that in his tremendous task he has the sympathetic understanding of a president and cabinet fully aware of the strain under which the American commission has been operating.

That there should be a measure of criticism from one side or the other is regarded as inevitable, for the conflicting claims are not alone to be considered as much as the effect on a public opinion in Europe which has not been prepared for great sacrifices. The scaling down of the original reparation figures, however, has not been a matter of sentiment but of economics. All the allied governments have appreciated the serious situation that would be created for themselves if it was insisted that full payments be made or that the annuities go beyond capacity to pay.

Under Great Strain.

The delicate mechanism of international credit is under a great strain [illegible] in the United States and with the high rediscount rates in the central banks abroad, so that a reparations settlement which will carry with it a definite understanding about the exchange problem is expected to bring about a wave of optimism. There are some observers here who feel that the removal of uncertainty about European financial relations will have a direct reflex in increased American trade and that this in turn will provide a considerable expansion for American industry.

The wisdom of the original Dawes-Young plan is commented on here in connection with the developments in Paris, for only by a postponement until 1929 was it possible to familiarize European peoples with the economic rather than the political side of the reparation problem and though there is much distance to go yet it is felt that the reduction from the original extravagant claims is an achievement to be credited to American foresight and the common sense of the allied statesmen who agreed to the proposal.

Confidence In Young.

Under Mr. Young's leadership there is the greatest confidence here that the new plan will be found equally acceptable and that while it may not settle all points, it will again afford an opportunity to say that the maximum at the moment has been obtained—and public opinion can hardly expect more. The awkwardness of American co-operation is fully appreciated here but it is not a matter for the executive but the legislative branch and only by unofficial commissioners of outstanding ability could the effect of government acquiescence in the delicate negotiations have been achieved.

Allis Shoots Record 69 to Lead British Open; Diegel and Barnes Follow With 71s

BY FRANK H. KING,
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Gullane, Scotland, May 8 (AP)—For six minutes today an American golfer led the field in the first round of the British open championship, but at the close of play tonight the honor went to a Briton, young Percy Allis, pro at the Wannsee club, Berlin. Allis scored a brilliant 69 to clip a stroke from the Muirfield course record, established yesterday by Leo Diegel.

It was a case today of beating Diegel to get the lead, for the P. G. A. champion of the United States early in the day wrested the lead from Abe Mitchell by turning in a 71 to Abe's 72. The American held it only until Allis, who was playing just behind him, came in with his 69, which was not threatened during the rest of the day.

Tonight Cyril Tolley, the long driving Englishman, was the only amateur in the first 45. Scores of the other amateurs today were near the 80 mark or above. To the surprise of the experts here, George Von Elm, the Detroit star, was among the high scorers with 79, caused mostly by difficulties on the greens. Von Elm turned in the highest card of the 17 Americans playing.

Diegel, Barnes Lead Yanks

Although they lost the actual lead they crowded Allis' mark all day. Of the 22 players scoring 75 or better today, 12 are visitors from the United States.

The Americans again demonstrated their ability as wet weather golfers. A storm broke in the afternoon, but Hagen played better during it than he had when the sun was shining, and Ed Dudley came home through a heavy rainstorm with a fine 72.

Leo Diegel and Jim Barnes showed the American crowd the way with a pair of great 71s.

Throughout most of the day conditions for low scoring were almost as ideal as can be expected when it's spring time in Scotland and there's at least one storm nearly every day.

There were no real upsets and favorites this morning still were favorites tonight. So many wagers have been placed on Hagen, Archie Compston, MacDonald Smith and Diegel that bookmakers decline further odds on them.

Allis Worthy Leader

British followers of golf see Allis as a worthy leader for the day's play. He is one of the best iron players in the country and has an attractive style. About the same general build as Bobby Jones but a trifle taller, he swings his clubs with an entire absence of physical effort and with something of the classic Vardon style. He finished fourth in the British open last year and won the German open title.

After Allis with his 69 came Diegel and Barnes, 71, Abe Mit-

THREE CHICAGO GUNMEN SLAIN

Retaliation for St. Valentine's Day Massacre Seen in Killings

Hammond, Ind., May 8 (AP)—Bullet-battered, broken bodies of three Chicago gunmen were gangland's contribution today to its gruesome gallery of massacre pictures.

The victims were John Scalisi, Robert Anselmi and Joseph Guinta.

Police professed to see in today's triple execution retaliation for the slaying of seven members of George "Bugs" Moran's gang by machine guns in a North Clark street garage St. Valentine's day and chalked up the score as three to seven.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson at Chicago announced that if the men were found to have been slain in Cook county he would conduct a wide investigation.

Brings Total to 19

The three deaths brought the total of gan killings in Cook county to 19 this year, about one a week.

In a lonely spot just over the Illinois-Indiana line the bodies were found, two in a heap on the back seat of an expensive stolen automobile and the other a short distance away at the side of the road.

Word went out to round up the followers of Moran, whose gang was nearly wiped out St. Valentine's day, for Scalisi was under indictment in connection with the killings. Although Anselmi had

HOOVER LOSES INITIAL TEST OF STRENGTH

VOTE 47-44; EXPECT ELIMINATION LATER

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Despite President Hoover's emphatically expressed objections, the senate voted 47 to 44 today to retain the export debenture plan in its farm relief bill.

Thirteen Republican independents joined an almost solid Democratic vote in defeating an attempt by administration forces to eliminate the disputed provision.

The bill already passed by the house does not provide for debentures, and inclusion of the plan in the senate measure was held by its opponents tonight to complicate greatly enactment of farm relief legislation. Republican leaders contended the house would reject the provision overwhelmingly, especially in view of the president's position.

Expect Elimination Later

They were confident that it would be eliminated ultimately by the conference committee of senate and house members which must adjust differences between the two measures, but were concerned over the time it might take to settle the controversy. The senate has yet to vote on the farm bill itself.

Only two Democrats, Walsh of Massachusetts and King of Utah, were "paired" with senators favoring the plan, Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, and Kendrick, Democrat, Wyoming, both of whom are ill in hospitals. Among the Republicans who disregarded the wishes of the president were Borah of Idaho and Brookhart of Iowa, who were leading campaigners for Mr. Hoover prior to the recent election.

Just before the roll call was begun Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, read from the letter of the president to Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee, listing ten reasons why the executive opposed the debenture plan.

Administration Lacked Votes

"I think it is well for the record to show at this point," he said, "the objections the president has to the proposition we are about to vote upon."

The administration forces were doomed to be defeated by one vote, even though Senators Walsh and King had declined to pair with the two absent members. Senator Walsh had a clerk read a letter from Senator Shipstead in which the Minnesota member said he was never so desirous of voting on a proposal and urged Walsh to pair so he would not be "required to further impair my health by being present."

A similar request by Senator Kendrick of Senator King was an-

Fire, Explosion Destroys Home; Three Are Dead

McBain, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Mrs. Ralph Westra and her two small daughters, one 6 months and the other 2 years old, were burned to death near here tonight in a fire and explosion which destroyed their home. It is believed Mrs. Westra caused the explosion by pouring kerosene on a smouldering fire.

Mrs. Westra's husband had started a fire in the kitchen stove and gone to a woodpile behind the house for more fuel. A third child of the couple, who had been visiting a neighbor, saw the flaming house and ran to inform his father, who had not seen the blaze. Flames prevented Westra from entering the rear door, however, and the front door was locked. Two other Westra children were in McBain when the fire occurred.

A coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow morning.

Governor Approves Commish for Study Of Michigan Taxes

Lansing, May 8 (AP)—Governor Green today signed the Conlon measure providing for a commission of tax inquiry to study the Michigan tax situation and report to the legisalture. The nine-man commission will be comprised of two members from each house of the legislature and representatives of banking, agricultural, labor, legal and business interests.

Believe U. S. Navy Pilot to Have Set Altitude Record

Washington, May 8 (AP)—A new world's altitude record appeared to have been set today by Lieut. A. Soucek, of the Navy, in a fight at the naval air station at Anacostia.

Flying the same biplane in which Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N., set the previous record of 38,418 feet, Lieut. Soucek pushed his machine up until his altimeter registered 40,000 feet. He believed this represented a true altitude of approximately 39,000 feet, which would exceed the record by 582 feet.

The National Aeronautic Association requires that the previous record be exceeded by 300 feet before it registers a new mark. Its officials said that tomorrow, after calibration of the plane's barograph, the official altitude reached by Soucek would be announced.

TARIFF BILL IS ASSAILED BY DEMOCRATS

LAY PLANS TO BEGIN GENERAL DEBATE TODAY

Washington, May 8 (AP)—While Democrats were assailing many features of the new tariff bill, Republican leaders made plans today to begin general debate on the measure in the house tomorrow without waiting for adoption of a special rule to govern its consideration for amendment.

The initial organized Democratic attack on the bill came in a statement late in the day by Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader, who declared the members of his party were a unit in opposition to many administrative provisions of the measure, some of which he characterized as "vicious."

The statement was issued after a meeting of the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, who were excluded from meetings during the preparation of the bill, and shortly after chairman Hawley announced that the measure would be taken up for debate tomorrow.

Start Debate Immediately

No explanation was advanced for the move to start debate so soon after the bill's introduction, but there were indications that it was planned on the theory that many differences among the Republicans over certain features of the measure might be smoothed out during the debate, thus reducing the demands for a rule throwing open many sections for amendment.

The full membership of the ways and means committee will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow to report the bill formally to the house. At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon the full Republican membership of the house will meet to discuss the nature of the special rule.

Republican leader Tilson has promised a rule which, he said, would give ample opportunity to the membership to offer amendments. The Democrats want a rule allowing changes to be suggested at any point during the reading of the bill.

Provisions Flexible

Garner's statement declared the Democrats would continue to oppose delegation of power to the president to change import duties under the flexible provisions, and also would oppose the new proposal to limit the jurisdiction of customs courts in reappraisement cases, and to give discretionary power in such instances to the secretary of the treasury.

"Valuation is the very heart of a tariff, said the Texan, "and to give the secretary of the treasury power to determine values is equivalent to giving him power to fix rates. This is an arbitrary power that ought not to be delegated by congress to the secretary of the treasury or anybody else."

Some of the Republican farm group, while expressing satisfaction with most of the agricultural rates, were disappointed by the proposed transfer from the free to the dutiable list of many building materials, including cement, cedar, maple and birch lumber, brick and shingles.

Possibility of Referendum on Cigaret Tax Law Causes Passage of Culver Malt Bill

Lansing, May 8 (AP)—Under the guiding hands of an administration alarmed over the possibility of a statewide referendum on the cigaret tax law, the Culver malt tax bill was hurried through legislative approval today and now is before the governor for signature.

The bill passed the senate by a vote of 17 to 14, exactly the number required for passage. In the house an overwhelming majority of 66 to 26 voted to concur in amendments which had increased the tax levy on malt products.

With the sanction of Governor Green the malt tax measure emerged from the senate taxation committee for the second great political upset of the current session of the legislature. It had been regarded as dead.

Expect $2,000,000 Revenue.

The committee increased the tax rate on wort from two cents a gallon to 25 cents and boosted the levy on malt syrup and extracts from two cents a pound to five cents. It is estimated the measure will bring a revenue of at least $2,000,000 a year.

Efforts to head off passage of the bill on moral grounds and the charge of constitutional hypocrisy proved futile. In a long debate in the senate over the measure, opponents charged that the legislature in passing the bill would sanction the violation of the prohibition law.

"The amended bill provides only for a tax on products used illegally," Senator Claude H. Stevens declared, "I don't think the poor school districts want this law."

Fear Referendum.

Senator Peter B. Lennon, defending the measure, declared the governor was concerned over the possibility of a referendum on the cigaret law, which was passed by the legislature. He asked the pas-

HOUSE-SENATE DEADLOCK IS FINALLY BROKEN AND RECORD FINANCIAL PROGRAM ENACTED

GREATEST PROPERTY TAX IN HISTORY IS FACED WITH ADOPTION OF BUILDING MEASURE

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich., May 8 (AP)—The fifty-fifth legislature ended its business session tonight by smashing a house-senate deadlock and enacting the most enormous financial program in the state's history.

Both branches adopted a conference report appropriating nearly $27,000,000 for a four year building program. The combination of this measure, a maintenance and operation budget previously enacted carrying an annual property tax of more than $16,500,000, mill taxes for the University and Michigan State college of nearly $7,000,000 a year, the Turner bill apportioning $2,000,000 a year to the poorer school districts and special appropriations, constitutes an annual tax requirement of approximately $32,000,000 a year.

To offset this, two special taxes were written into the statutes. One, a cigaret tax, may yield the $2,000,000 needed for school districts.

Record Property Tax

With these deductions a total state property tax of between $28,000,000 and $30,000,000, barring executive vetoes of the appropriation bills, is forecast. The greatest property tax in previous state history was $24,500,000.

The governor has the power to disapprove individual items in appropriation measure. By this method it is believed considerable sums may be lopped off from the stupendous program.

The conference report on the Hartman building appropriation bill was met with stern but futile opposition in the house. Representative Wilbur Snow, of Kalamazoo, attempted to have the conference recommendation rejected. Representative Walter C. Peters, of Monroe, also objected to adoption of the report, contending that by spreading expenditures over four years there is no guarantee any improvement projects will be completed. He advocated eliminating $10,000,000 set aside for a new hospital and using the money to build up existing state hospitals in the coming biennium. By spreading the program over so long a period only 2,200 beds will be added to the hospital system in the next two years, when more than 5,000 are needed, he asserted. His protest found little support and he finally voted for the conference measure.

House Vote, 75-17

The house vote on the conference bill was 75 to 17. The senate adopted it without protest.

The program calls for expenditure of $6,040,000 in 1930, $5,717,300 in 1931, $7,429,500 in 1932 and $7,840,500 for buildings and improvements. The money must be raised by a direct property tax.

Kalamazoo hospital was appropriated $1,820,000; Pontiac hospital only $350,000; Traverse City hospital $1,700,000; Newberry hospital $1,200,000; Psychopathic hospital $330,000; new hospital $10,000; Home and Training school, $2,200,000; University $1,400,000 in the last two years for buildings; $17,000 for land, $500,000 for heat and light improvements; $250,000 for an addition to the general hospital; College of Mining and Technology $400,000; State Normal College $400,000; Western Normal, $500,000; Soldiers' Home, $600,000; State Public school, $250,000; School for Deaf, $150,000; Girls' Training school, $50,000.

Death Bill Up to Green.

Those who voted against the measure in the house were Representatives Calvert, Coleman, C. J. Dacey, Vincent Dacey, DeLand, Esple, Goodwine, Hall, Harnly, Holland, Kistler, MacDonald, Miller, Snow, Watson, Williams and Wilson.

The legislature bequeathed to the governor for perhaps irksome consideration, a capital punishment proposal, the huge financial program, and scores of other measures of a controversial nature.

Several administration bills succeeded, but it could not be called an "administration legislature."

The session started January 2 More than 900 bills were introduced, less than half of which will find a place in the state's laws.

Few Major Problems.

Hundreds of proposals went by the board. Income tax plans, higher gasoline tax demands, an administration bond issue, anti-administrative board measures, an parti-mutuel horse race betting bill, a suggestion that the state discontinue the Chelsea cement plant, and scores of others died in pigeonholes or on the floor.

From the time the session opened, virtually until it ended, there were but a handful of major problems. They were capital punishment, the financing of institutional improvements, the liquor issue involving stiffer penalties and removal of the life imprisonment clause,

YOUNG'S PLAN IS CRITICIZED

British Demand New Consideration of Debts Payments Division

Paris, May 8 (AP) — With the German delegation holding aloof for the moment, the conflict in the reparations conference has again shifted to Germany's creditors.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, although pressed to put into writing the conditions to which he subordinates acceptance of the new proposal by Owen D. Young, continues to conceal Germany's reservations.

The British experts, dissatisfied with the percentages in the partition of reparations payments as set forth in the proposal, demand a new consideration of that question among the allied delegates.

This renewed discussion as to division of the payments and continued hesitation of the Germans to make clear their position have prolonged the committee's work. The experts, who had counted on getting away for home at the end of the week, are losing hope of such an early conclusion.

As the situation now stands, it seems that the French and the other allied delegations are about ready to accept Mr. Young's figures if the German conditions should prove acceptable. The Germans, on their part, hesitate to bring forward those conditions for fear of incurring the responsibility of breaking up the conference.

The British experts, who agreed to cutting down the total in reparations demanded of Germany, refuse to accept changes in percentages which reduce their share.

The Americans, who said they intervened only to help the conference out of a deadlock, have been criticized from both sides. The French are still inclined to take Mr. Young to task on the grounds that he suggested further reduction in reparations payments, while there was no sign that the American government was willing to make any sacrifice in its claims against Germany.

Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The senate voted to retain the debenture plan in the farm bill.

The house was in recess while its members studied the new tariff bill.

Democrats of the house ways and means committee met to lay plans for consideration of the tariff.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor advocated a senate inquiry into southern textile mill conditions.

Representative Tilson, house majority leader, called a meeting of the whole Republican membership for Friday to consider procedure on the tariff.

highway finance and state aid for the poorer school districts.

All but the institutional improvements program were settled. Highway finance changes were discarded on the plea of the administration for a continuance of the present program. Capital punishment was approved by the legislature and placed before the governor. The "liquor-life" provision was removed, but the Cuthbertson bill was adopted, doubling the maximum penalties for all violators and making at least one year in prison mandatory for all bootleggers. The Turner bill, appropriating $2,000,000 annually for the poorer school districts, was passed and approved by the governor, and to supply the needed revenue the Lennon cigaret tax was made law.

Holsaple Criticized.

Fifteen-round championship boxing bouts may be held in Michigan as a result of a legislative decision. New game and fish laws were enacted, changing seasons and otherwise affecting conservation. An administration effort to cut the personnel of the public utilities commission from five to three failed. A legisaltive investigation of the commission resulted in a decree of no cause for action.

Salaries of several state officials and employes were raised. A budget bill providing for expenditure of $56,000,000 in the next biennium for maintenance and operation of institutions and departments was approved.

There were the usual frequent charges of administration whip cracking and the usual sharp denials. Lobbyists received their share of attention. The Rev. R. N. Holsaple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, was singled out for criticism by a group of dry house members.

The session resulted in less spectacular legislation than others in recent years. On the other hand it was one that concededly gave more than the usual amount of deliberation and thought to the proposals before it. The lower branch set a record by more than keeping up, under the adminitions of Speaker Frad R. Ming, with the smaller and less cumbersome senate.

Scalisi's death carried an irony unusual even in gangster murders. He was killed while enjoying liberty on $50,000 bonds which he sought too desperately in order to escape violence at the hands of other prisoners in the county jail. Scalisi and Jack McGurn, also indicted for the murders, believed certain other prisoners had managed to be jailed that they might get revenge on the two.

No date was set for the inquest and Coroner A. A. Watts said that would depend on how soon the relatives of the men could be rounded up.

WHIPPING POST BILL DEFEATED

Attempt to Shoot It Thru in Closing Hours of Session, Fails

Lansing, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Under cover of the usual confusion accompanying the closing hours of the legislative session, proponents of the Culver whipping post bill attempted today to secure its passage in the senate today, only to see it go down to defeat on two occasions. The bill was lost by a narrow margin of 13 to 13.

With surprising alacrity the whipping post measure emerged from the judiciary committee of the senate and was rushed to a final vote. It quickly was removed from the floor. However, when Senator Arl H. Woodruff declared it would nullify the capital punishment bill which the legislature had passed.

The bill then was amended to exclude first degree murderers from its provisions. The senate refused to lift the amended measure from the table.

No debate accompanied the last minute effort to rush the bill through to approval.

SALARIES INCREASED

Lansing, Mich., May 8 (AP)—In the last minute rush toward final adjournment, the senate today sent to the governor the bill providing sterilization for mental defectives and the bill to outlaw the Mexican drug, marihuana, from Michigan.

The eugenics bill provides on a court order mandatory sterilization for the feebleminded. In addition to outlawing marihuana, the Palmer narcotics bill prohibits use of hypodemic needles in Michigan except for medical purposes.

Representative Barnard's bill creating a commission to codify the criminal substantive law was approved and sent to the governor, with Bushnell bill providing redemption of mortgages six months after foreclosure.

The Darin bill increasing the salaries of circuit court judges from $5,000 to $6,000 was passed by the senate, with an amendment to include superior court judges in Grand Rapids. The house refused to concur in the amendment and the bill went to a conference.

MEDICAL BILL KILLED

Lansing, Mich., May 8 (AP)—The biennial warfare among members of the medical, chiropractic and osteopathic professions ran the gauntlet of the current legislative term without settlement, as harmony was swept aside in the closing hours of the session today.

In the final hours of the current presentation of the controversy the Engel medical practice bill, containing the socalled basic science law, returned to the house and was jammed into the public health committee never to see the light of day.

Edmund A. Laux and sons Cecil and Roy of Fayette made a business trip to Gladstone Saturday.

Mrs. John McKaye and daughters Doris and Lila and Clarence Quam of Escanaba spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winter and family.

Aldred Farley and Miss Lillian Nelson of Manistique spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heric and family of Manistique spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Purtill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Purtill, Mrs. John Heric, Mrs. Edward Joque, Mrs. Patrick Purtill and Don Farley meotored to Escanaba Monday. Mr. Purtill and Mr. Farley each drove home a new car for the Garden Motor company's trade here.

Mrs. John Dotsch returned Friday from L'Anse where she has spent several weeks visiting relatives. She is feeling much better in health than when she left Garden.

Mrs. Ada Watson and Miss Holt of Manistique visited relatives at Fayette Sunday.

The Misses Mattie and Adelle Elliott of Sac Bay were business callers in town Thursday.

Fairbanks township residents are beginning to think of school elections. It is understood that only one petition was in the hands of the secretary several days ago, but others are expected before the time limit expires. President Robert Watchorn's team expires as also does Secretary Bernie Pizzala's and that of William Follo. It is generally believed that none of these men will seek re-election, although nothing definite could be learned. Election will be held Monday, June 10.

The Fairbanks township board of education held a business session last Saturday. The main business discussed was the hiring of the teachers for the coming school years. Teachers were assigned to each of the four schools in the township, but no official appointments were made. Definite announcement will be made later.

The first peepers to come into the Garden postoffice this spring arrived here last Saturday morning, a bitterly cold May day. The consignment consisted of one hundred chicks for James St. Arno of Fayette and the same amount each for Francis Farley and Louis Farley of Kate's Bay. They were Brown Leghorns and Barred Rocks.

A marked improvement in the behaviour of school children on the streets is noticed since the state trooper and a member of the sheriff's department discussed the various traffic rules here. A number of junior cops were appointed and several youthful offenders have been hailed into court and dealt with according to the utmost rigors of the law.

MALT BILL IS PASSED; SENT TO GOVERNOR

sage of the malt levy to assure payment to the poorer school districts of the $2,000,000 provided in the Turner bill.

Characterizing the measure as the "most preposterous piece of legislation ever proposed," Senator James T. Upjohn declared the measure would make Michigan ridiculous in recognizing violations of the prohibition law.

Senator Lennon replied: "It would be just as well to remove this mask of hypocrisy." He argued that such a law would reduce prohibition violations.

Senator Leon F. Miner declared the malt tax would make hypocrites of children. Senator Ernest T. Conlon termed the measure "rotten taxation," and suggested that a tax stamp be placed on each bottle of beer should the measure become a law.

The Vote.

The vote on the bill in the senate:

For: Senators Achard, Atwood, Binning, Campbell, Gansser, Harding, Heidkamp, Jankowski, Kolowich, Lennon, Person, Rushton, Sink, Turner, Van Eenenaam, Wood and Woodruff—17.

Against: Senators Barnard, Branson, Condon, Conlon, Cowan, Engel, Horton, Howell, Miner, O'Donnell, Richardson, Skinner, Stevens and Upjohn—14.

In the house, the following voted against concurrence:

Representatives Barnard, Dirk, Brown, Calvert, Clement, Coleman, Cuthbertson, Davidson, DeLand, Ate Dykstra, Espie, Haight, Harnly, Holland, Kistler, MacDonald, MacBride, McColl, McNitt, J. Herbert Read, Skeels, Smith, Ward, Wardell, Watson and Wilson—26.

OUTLINE TERMS OF C. C. I. MERGER

Cutting of Juicy Melon for Stockholders Contemplated

Marquette, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Information received here from Cleveland, Ohio, outlining the terms of the recently announced alliance between the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and the strong financial group headed by Cyrus S. Eaton, of Cleveland, reveals that it contemplates cutting a juicy melon for Cleveland-Cliffs stockholders, as well as assuring that the Cleveland-Cliffs company, largest independent producer of iron ore in the Lake Superior district, will not suffer from a constricted market as a result of possible future combinations of important fabricating interests.

The plan, which will be passed on by stockholders of the C. C. I. company at a meeting called for its offices in Cleveland, June 4, is as follows:

"The Cleveland-Cliffs company, which has a capital stock issue of 400,000 shares, no par value, will create a preferred stock issue of $500,000 shares, which will carry a cumulative $5 annual dividend. Present holders of Cleveland-Cliffs stock will receive one and one-quarter shares of this preferred stock for each share of common. In addition, it is stated, there will be an extra $5 cash dividend.

To Double Shares.

When the preferred stock has been issued and the extra $5 dividend has been paid, it is proposed that new corporation, to be called the Cliffs Corporation, be organized, with an authorized capital of 800,000 shares, twice the present number of shares of the Cleveland-Cliffs company.

Stockholders in the Cleveland-Cliffs company will get, in addition to their preferred stock and their extra dividend, one share of the Cliffs Corporation for each share of Cleveland-Cliffs company stock they hold.

The other 400,000 shares will be issued to the Eaton interests, which will pay for them with a block of dividend paying stocks in companies engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel, to an approximate value of $40,000,000.

HOOVER LOSES INITIAL TEST OF STRENGTH

nounced by the latter.

No Comment in House

Word of the senate vote reached the house almost immediately, but little comment was forthcoming. Representative Garner, of Texas, the Democratic leader, predicted that the house Democrats would be practically solid in their support of the debenture plan at the time of a vote on the conference report on the farm bill.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the Republican leader, predicted that the house never would accept the debenture plan.

He said two routes were open to the house in moving against the section.

One would be to raise the question that the senate had exceeded its authority in approving a revenue raising measure, Tilson added. This question could be raised by any member of the house and could be sustained by a majority vote. In this event the bill would be sent back to the senate without action by the house.

The second method would be to meet the question on a direct vote in the house. Leaders feel that they have a broad majority against the proposal and expressed willingness that the matter be handled by a direct house vote.

The debenture plan aims to increase the price of farm crops by giving a surplus exporter a debenture certificate, the value of which would be equal to one-half the tariff on imports of those commodities. In the case of cotton, upon which no tariff duty is levied, the debenture rate would be 2 cents a pound.

THE LAXATIVE WITH HIGHEST ENDORSEMENT

When you get out of bed feeling headachy, sluggish, weak, half-sick, here's a simple measure that will have you feeling yourself again in a jiffy.

Take a little Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water—or lemonade. Two to four tablespoonfuls is the usual adult dose. Taken in lemonade, Phillips Milk of Magnesia acts like citrate of magnesia. Take it like this an hour before breakfast. By the time you leave home, you'll be surprised by your improvement.

As a mild, safe, pleasant laxative, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has the highest medical endorsement. As an anti-acid to correct sour stomach, gas, indigestion, biliousness, it has been standard with doctors for over fifty years. To know its quick relief in digestive and eliminative troubles of men, women, children—and babies—is to keep a bottle always handy.

Full directions for all its uses come with every bottle. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c sizes.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

RECORD FAST TIME TRIALS

Blue Larkspur, Derby Favorite, Will Arrive at Downs Sunday

Louisville, Ky., May 8 (AP)—The Audley farm's Kentucky derby candidate, the Choctaw, worked the fastest trial of the training season here this afternoon. The colt broke at the derby start and covered the quarter in .24, half in :49, three quarters in 1:15:4-5, mile in 1:41 and the mile and a quarter in 2:08 3-5.

The morning workouts were mostly short, although one or two hopefuls came in for trials over the longer routes. The Swikart candidate, Chip, was sent a mile in 1:44 4-5, the quarter mile in 25 2-5, half in :50 3-5 and three quarters in 1:18. Boris, owned by the Harned Brothers, turned the half in :52 2-5, three quarters in 1:20 1-5 and mile in 1:50 1-5, under wraps all the way.

Following are some eligibles which worked short distances and their times:

Quarter: Voltear, :25.

Three-eighth: Prince Pat :34 4-5; Double Heart :34 4-5; Panchio :37 3-5; LaPaloma :37 3-5.

Half: Royal Ford :49; Calf Roper :49; Ervast :53 3-5.

Meanwhile, word was received here that Earl Sande ,who booted home two Kentucky derby winners, is due to arrive here tomorrow from Pimlico with nine horses. Sande, now a trainer, hopes to win the distinction of being the only man who won a Kentucky derby both as a jockey and owner and he is bringing his colt Hermitage, which he intends to enter in the classic.

Favorite Shipped

Naishapur, owned by Chaffee Earl, was an arrival at Churchill Downs today. The colt apparently shipped in fine shape and looks fit to race. Twenty-seven head of the R. S. Clark horses also arrived. Jack Baker, trainer, said Current of the Clark string will not start in the derby but will be trained for the Kentucky Oaks.

The winter book favorite for the derby, Blue Larkspur, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley of Lexington, Ky., will arrive at the Downs Sunday, according to Dick Thompson, trainer. Lord Braedalbane, owned by Desha Breckinridge, Lexington newspaper publisher ,arrived today. Lord Bradalbane took a sudden dip recently in the winter books when word sifted out of a sensational trial, but the colt later ran third to Blue Larkspur and Clye Van Dusen in a Kentucky association race.

SHIELDS WILL BUY NEW BOAT

Captain Praises Harry Jacobson for Heroism in Shipwreck

Sault Ste. Marie—Captain Sam Shields of the motorship O. E. Parks which sank in 55 feet of water off Thunder Bay Island Friday morning, will seek to salvage the machinery and will purchase another Diesel equipped vessel, preferably steel, to finish his pulpwood hauling contracts in the lower river.

Captain Shields returned to the Sault yesterday afternoon and this morning gave his version of the wreck.

"You've said about all there is to be said about the accident," Captain Shields declared. "After the water got up to the pulpwood, the bark was washed down into the bilges and the pump pipes were clogged. I don't think there are any holes in her. It was the bark that made her sink.

"We left Hilton Beach customs house about one o'clock Thursday afternon. My glass (barometer) dlid not show any signs of a storm.

At 7 o'clock that night the glass was still fair, but a northwest wind was blowing and a heavy wind was blowing and a heavy sea rolling. At 12 the wind changed to northwest, blowing at 55 miles an hour.

"With a cross sea to contend with, the Parks behaved well. It was snowing and the sea washed over her, loosening the bark from the plupwood and washing it into the bilges. The pumps clogged and she began to fill up. When the engine room was so filled with water that we could no longer keep the engine going, we dropped both anchors. Harry Jacobson, that's my engineer, and I worked in the engine room until the water was up to our necks."

Loss Is $35,000.

Captain Shields was reluctant to talk of what followed. He was somewhat unnerved. "With $35,000 going out from under me in less than 15 minutes, I didn't care much what happened to me. It's worse than the stock market. I had no fear that I would drown. I had no time to thing about myself; there were too many other things to think about.

"A 55-mile wind was blowing and a heavy sea running when the coast guard came out to our rescue. She could not get very near our sinking ship because of the mountainous sea, but every time she neared the wreck some of the crew jumped, until they were all on the coast guard boat, including Peggy, the mascot dog." Ten or fifteen minutes after the crew quit the ship, she sank, in about 55 feet of water, two miles north by east of Thunder Bay Light, on the steamer course.

"If we could have kept her going 15 minutes longer we would have rounded Thunder Bay cape and run into shelter and saved the boat," Captain Shields said.

The pulpwood aboard was valued at $5,500 and the ship $30,000. Captain Shields fears that the buoyancy of the plupwood in the hold has torn the deck off the Parks. He will try to secure a tug from Rogers City to tow the Parks into shallow water and a diver will attempt to remove the machinery. The Parks carried fire insurance but no marine insurance.

Captain Shields will go to Chicago in a day or two to buy another ship, probably steel with Diesel equipment. He has some 8,000 or 10,000 cords of pulpwood to transport from the lower river.

"I can't say too much for the coast guard crew. But for them we would have been goners," related Captain Shields. Chief Assistant Richardson was in charge of the rescue boat. Captain Clemens was ill. The coast guard crew housed the Parks crew in the station. The sea was so heavy that the mainland was not attempted until 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Captain Shields especially commented on the heroism of Harry Jacobson, of Escanaba, chief engineer, who stuck to his post until he was up to his neck in water.

Mrs. Oslund, 62, of Bark River Passes; Former Escanaban

Mrs. John Oslund, 62, of Bark River, died at the family home Wednesday morning at 1:30 o'clock following an illness of three months due to bronchial pneumonia. Mrs. Oslund formerly lived in this city and moved to Bark River with her husband about four years ago.

The body was prepared for burial at the Anderson Funeral Home and will be removed to the family residence at Bark River this morning. Funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock at the Bark River Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. Fred Olson of Daggett will officiate.

Besides the husband, Mrs. Oslund is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Emil Johnson, Chisolm, Minn.; two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Mary Asploff, Chicago; Mrs. John Erickson, Escanaba; Andrew Anderson, Bark River; Emil Anderson, Kimberly, Wis.; Alfred Anderson, Masonville; and one grandchild in Chisolm.

Interment will be in the family lot in the Bark River cemetery.

Thin Blood Makes People Feel Cold All the Time

After the Debilitating Effects of Winter Your System Needs Toning Up

Grip, influenza and winter colds so often leave the blood thin and weak. Many different symptoms may result. If you are nervous, melancholy, chilly, short of breath, run down, sleepless and despondent, try the simple treatment that Mrs. Rigge recommends for building up the blood. So many weak, discouraged men and women have found new energy, strength and ambition in this way that you owe it to yourself to give this system-building tonic a thorough trial.

"I was terribly run down, had no ambition and would get dizzy spells," says Mrs. Emma Rigge, of No. 1000 Wadsworth street, Saginaw, Mich. "My color was poor and I had a numbness in my hands. My blood was so thin that I was cold all the time. I had to be very careful as I caught cold easily. My appetite was fickle and I slept badly.

"One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. I noticed an improvement while I was taking the first box. My appetite picked up and I gained strength and ambition. Dr. William' Pink Pills did me a wonderful lot of good. I have no dizzy spells any more, am not melancholy and my color is good. I cannot say too much in favor of the pills and I want others who suffered as I did to try them."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for a copy of the booklet, "Building Up the Blood." It is free.

TRAILING THE NEWS.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR, who is a registered pharmacist, has been put to work in the drug room of the District of Columbia jail. There is little chance for fulfillment of Harry's hope that he will be asked to mix a double-chocolate-whipped-cream-pecan sundae for Senators Wheeler and Walsh;

. . . and, the Rev. Ira E. Hicks, who lives in Tom River, N. J., thinks the schools of that town are steeped in sin because there was some stage kissing in the annual high school operetta. These kisses, it is declared, were the first kisses exchanged in Tom River since the Rev. Mr. Hicks became the semi-official guardian of the community's lips and are likely to be the last as long as he remains there;

. . . and, because his parents made him wash dishes, an 11-year-old Buffalo boy stowed away on the tail of a freight airplane and went to Detroit. We can't say that we blame him for resenting the failure of his parents to provide him with an older sister. However, an older aerial hobo would have chosen one of the new passenger planes on which the baggage cars are equipped with blind fronts;

. . . and, Nature has a way of taking care of all emergencies. The Jones law resulted in the closing of 2,000 speak-easies in Chicago and the level of Lake Michigan immediately rose nearly two feet;

. . . and, an Eastern coach declares that he expects to live to see a runner cover a mile in four minutes, which causes us to grin cynically and remark that we can remember, too, when some cheerful idiots were making the absurd prediction that automobiles one day would be made to run at the rate of a mile a minute.

President Hoover has been on quite a few fishing trips but that doesn't make him a real fisherman. We are waiting to see what he will do or read what he will say when the hook catches in his coat-tails.

HAS GLORY VANISHED?

THE MEXICAN revolution, launched with pompous bombast by florid generals in gay uniforms, is petering out in a most dismal fashion. Looking quite unmilitary, such chieftains as can get away are legging it for the border, leaving their hopes of glory and fame to wilt under the hot desert sun.

Beaten from the start, the revolutionists now make a sorry spectacle. They had such high hopes, and they would have won so much glory if they had only been luckier and abler. But they weren't—and now, instead of glory, they are thinking chiefly about how to escape Calles' firing squads.

The dream of glory is a dangerous thing for a man to harbor. It has led more than one citizen to death and destruction, although it has led others to success, fame and riches. One is tempted to wonder, however, if it isn't a dream that is about done for.

This is becoming a prosaic age. Glory is becoming a commodity that is hard to get. It may even be that it is a thing that has served its purpose and will be discarded entirely.

Consider: there is no glory comparable to that of the military hero. All other forms of fame pale before the fame of the man who has been a brilliant fighter. Yet, in a few more decades, it is quite probable that war will be abolished from the face of the earth.

What will an ambitious man do for glory then?

To be sure, there are other ways of getting fame. Science, public affairs, aviation, industry, the arts—all of these offer chances for high renown.

Yet the glory a man can win in these fields is dim in comparison with the glory of the great soldier. Lindbergh, to be sure, reached the highest of peaks because of his flying—but, in a few more years, aviation may well be so stabilized that it will offer no more chances for spectacular, daring exploits.

So, if the soldier passes, except as a sort of glorified policeman, the field will be pretty limited.

Probably we shall have to evolve a new idea of glory.

In the past it has taken the crash of battle and the pomp of military display to stir our sense of appreciation. Perhaps, if war is done away with, we can reach a saner view of things, and can understand that killing his fellow men, even for a noble cause, is not necessarily the finest thing a man can do.

Then, it may be, we can guage the value of other kinds of service better, so that we can see that the race owes more to some of its scientists, philosophers, poets and reformers than to all the generals that ever lived.

The Coal Service Institute in Kansas City offers a free course in coal shoveling. Every man ought to see that this opportunity is not missed by "the little woman."

FOLLY IN THE AIR.

EARLY reports of the airplane accident at San Diego, Calif., where six people lost their lives when an army airplane collided with a big passenger plane, indicate that aviation occasionally has a character not unlike the gentleman who rocks the boat on the water.

If the early reports are correct, the accident occurred after an army flyer, diving close to the passenger plane in an effort to show his skill and give the passengers a thrill, misjudged his distance and crashed into it.

Army flyers, of course, are trained to go through risky maneuvers. It is all part of the day's work to them. But there is precious little excuse for an affair like this at San Diego. If a flyer wants to show off his stunts, let him do it by himself.

Points at which C. C. Pyle's racing robots stop for the night are called "control stations." However, there seems no way to bring those fellows under control.

MAKING CHESS HARDER.

DEVOTEES of the game of chess will be highly interested in Jose Capablanca's recently-presented suggestion for widening the scope of the game.

Capablanca, who has claimed for years that chess needs revision because the experts have solved all its possible combinations, has suggested and demonstrated some changes. He has enlarged the size of the board, so that it contains 100 squares instead of 64. Each side gets four new pieces; two new pawns, and two composite pieces, one of which combines the powers of the rook and the knight, while the other combines the powers of the bishop and the knight.

Chess lovers will doubtless be eager to see how this new game works out. For the ordinary man chess still contains unnumbered riddles. It may be, however, that the masters' tournaments will contain fewer monotonous draws if Capablanca's suggestions are adopted.

Statistics offered by Northwestern University show the men are dumber than the girls. Are there no good-looking co-eds at that school?

Now that scientists have taught the mechanical man how to talk, don't be surprised if he demands a five-day week.

Power companies have been buying several American newspapers, it has just been learned, probably with the idea of putting a little power into the editorials.

Mussolini certainly seems to be pursuing a constructive policy in Italy the way he keeps making cabinets.

Why doesn't Senator Heflin copy and learn that little five-word speech Colonel Lindbergh delivers to newspapermen so nicely?

CHAPTER IX

Stephen made a mistake when he suspected that Huck would ask Pamela to a night club. Huck was too well known at all of these places to risk it.

He didn't want his world to find out that he was interested in the girl. It would leak out soon, of course, but he intended to put through his plans before anyone started interfering, and that would mean before Pamela's father returned from abroad.

As his car moved through the traffic and Pamela sat back with illconcealed impatience, Huck let his eyes feast upon her. He made no attempt to mask them. Pamela was watching the sea of faces that moved by, some of them turned with frank curiosity toward her and her companion.

The silkiness of her smooth blond hair—Huck knew it wasn't bleached—the haughty curve where her chin merged into her throat, appealed to him. He liked fineness. And fineness in women had been denied him.

The wealth of jewels Pamela wore meant nothing to him. He wanted Pamela because he was madly infatuated with her. He had tried to stem the tide of madness when he first realized that it was sweeping over him. His better judgement told him it was dangerous to fall in love with a girl like Pamela. But he might as well have tried to stop the North River from flowing out to sea.

A sudden slowing of the car when a pedestrian darted unexpectedly in front of them threw them closer together. Pamela drew quickly away. She was uneasy. The quiet force of Huck's personality was beginning to disturb her. She remembered that Harold had warned her he'd been unable to learn anything at all concerning the man.

It was one thing to flirt with him in her father's hotel, another to be out with him alone. Pamela was not too sheltered to know that wolves still prowled in sheep's clothing.

"Well, I'm no Little Red Riding Hood," she told herself scornfully, but she was not sorry to arrive home. She started to say good night as soon as they entered the lobby, but Huck pleaded for a dance in the grill.

"I'm tired," Pamela said shortly, but there was nothing in her appearance to bear her out in her excuse. She was radiant, perhaps still flushed a trifle with anger. It was simply unthinkable that a little nobody stenographer should have the powerf to disturb her!

Huck had guessed at her feelings toward him and was quick to suggest that if she could get up a party he would take them all to the new midnight revue that had opened the previous week and was already a sensation.

He smiled inwardly over her immediate interest in the invitation. He knew then that Pamela was just a bit afraid of him. That suited him; he'd feared she might be indifferent.

"But it's simply impossible to get tickets," she said hopelessly.

"I'll get them," Huck promised; "but not more than six, please. Your brother might like to go if we can locate him," he added cunningly.

"I'll ask if he's come in." Pamela responded and hurried over to the desk. Harold would rave when he learned, if he did, that she'd been out with Huck, but she knew he'd be disappointed about tickets for the revue. She counted on that to drag him along and prevent him from making trouble for her.

She learned that Harold was in his room. "I'll get him," she said to Huck. "Be down in a minute."

She found Harold drinking orange juice and bicarbonate of soda. He looked all in.

'What's the matter with you?" she snapped. "Lose again? It doesn't take that gang up there long to clean you, does it? I should think you'd take up ping pong or knitting afghans instead of playing poker."

"What a comforting presence you are," her brother jeered. "What did you bust in here for, anyway?"

"I bear thee gifts," Pamela smiled. "Come along, little brother. For the first time in my life I want a chaperon."

"Is your new boy friend getting rough?" Harold sneered. "Now don't try to look innocent. I got a hunch you were out with Connor."

"Why pick on him? Why not Stephen Armitage?" Pamela mocked.

"Well, maybe. I've left a call for Armitage."

"So you're spying on me, are you? I'll pay you off, don't forget. But just now we've got a date with Huck."

"Oh, have we?"

"Yes, we have. He's got tickets. Tickets, boy, that you couldn't buy for love or money."

"Yeah?"

"The new revue! Go on down and hold him to it while I phone up a crowd."

"I don't suppose you would ask Angela?" Harold said, wavering between the bait and his better judgement.

"I would not! Did you see anything of Margola's bunch? They were coming around to pick me up for the Webley's dance."

"I just got in," Harold told her. "They may be downstairs."

Pamela found her friends in the grill. Later someone got raked over the coals for not having told her they were waiting. There were a dozen in the party, but Pamela got Margola aside, and they planned to separate two or more and then give the others the slip. That would make the full quota of six. Pamela never bore down lightly on account of expense.

And with Huck to foot the bills there seemed no occasion to do so. They had good seats and a sumptuous supper. Huck was the perfect host, a little older and more formal than his guests, but Pamela saw that he interested Margola not a little.

Huck being her find, she felt impelled to keep him. "Nothing doing," she declared when she heard Margola tell Huck she'd lige to dance with him. "He's promised not to dance with anyone but me."

And while the show was in progress and the lights were dimmed she let him hold his arm on the back of her chair, with the tips of his fingers touching her shoulder, without pulling away. Huck's petting certainly was tame, she told herself, but a wee voice whispered back that he hadn't started yet.

Pamela turned her head to look at him and met his eyes full upon her face. She could not read them, but she knew that if she could she wouldn't have found their message tame.

"Great idea, reviving the roof garden show, isn't it?" she said lamely.

"Are you having a good time?" Huck asked in return. "Like it?"

Pamela nodded. The show was good but it meant nothing as compared to the thrill she was experiencing through the knowledge that this man beside her was falling so hard he'd got to the point of trembling over her opinion of his efforts to entertain her.

And when next they danced together and Huck held her closer she dropped her head on his shoulder and told herself she might be playing with fire but it certainly was exciting. She had forgotten Stephen, who had called the hotel and found no one wished to speak to him.

Harold, too, was succumbing to Huck's campaign to win his confidence. There was absolutely nothing about the fellow that was offensive, so far as he could observe.

"Great time," he said to Huck when they left the place, and in his voice was admiration for a man of power.

Another thing in Huck's favor in Harold's eyes was the fact that Huck hadn't once made the remark that could be construed as a lead to a person he intended to victimize. Harold called Mildred's warning "imagination", when he thought of it later that night.

Huck had come up to Harold's room for a nightcap and Harold had introduced Wall Street into the conversation. Huck had not appeared interested in the subject.

Huck waved that aside carlessly. 'To be frank with you, I've retired and only take a flyer now and then for the pleasure. You see I had a run of luck in Chicago, and when I got enough I quit."

"I don't see how you could," Harold remarked. "I like to gamble and I can't quit it."

"Well, old man, it was doctor's orders with me. Too exciting."

Harold looked concerned. "Oh, I see. That's too bad."

Huck smiled as one afflicted trying to make an effort to be cheerful.

"I thought so too until I found that I could get a kick out of playing the poines," he said lightly; "I'm pretty lucky at it, and it isn't such a strain."

Harold regarded him enviously. "My luck is rotten," he said gloomily. Then a brighter expression passed over his countenance. "But I haven't tried the ponies," he added hopefully.

And that night when Huck left Harold's rooms he did not go to his own as he had said. Instead he took a taxicab to an address in the West Forties.

LYRICS OF LIFE

LIKE HIS DAD.

He smiles a little at his dad,
For Father has a way of walking,
A way of stalking
When he's mad,
And even funny ways of talking.
A youngster is so much advised
That parents seem a lot of bother—
And yet he'd rather
Be surprised
To know how much he's like his father.

I see him coming down the street,
Intent upon some boyish matter,
I hear the clatter
Of his feet,
I catch a bit of boyish chatter.
I hear him tell some other boy
About the wealth he means to win him,
I see him spin him
Dreams of joy—
How much he has of Father in him!

Some day he'll have his father's cares,
The father that he finds amusing,
The hours of losing,
Dark affairs
That come in spite of all our choosing.
And then he'll have the strength of Dad,
When little storms of trouble strike him—
Life's road will hike him,
And be glad,
Recalling Dad, he's so much like him.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

One of the most notable casts yet assembled at the Paramount studios in Hollywood will be seen in Emil Jannings' new starring production, "Sins of the Fathers," which will be shown at the Delft again today.

Jannings plays a German-American, Wilhelm Spengler. Ruth Chatterton, former stage star, is Gretta, who steals Spengler from his first wife, which role ZaSu Pitts portrays. Matthew Betz is Gus, the menace of the story, and Jean Arthur is Jannings' daughter. Barry Norton, the "mama's boy" of "What Price Glory," has been assigned the role of the star's son. Jack Luden, featured player under contract to Paramount, will be seen as Otto, a friend of the family.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Evidence is available, and the opinions of many authorities support the evidence, that the hair can turn gray suddenly.

There are many instances of sudden graying of small patches of hair. It was reported that Marie Antoinette and Mary, Queen of Scots, developed sudden grayness of the hair while on their way to the scaffold. A legend in a popular medical work tells of a man 30 years of age who was sick in a mining camp and fell asleep. The year was 1851. When he awoke, a grizzly bear was standing over him. The man's hair turned white in 24 hours.

Another story is that of a man who placed his entire savings of $1100 on one turn of the cards. The story does not tell whether he was trying to make two pair stand up or to fill a bob-tail flush, but it does say that 24 hours later his hair was white. Apparently the cards failed him.

Most specialists in diseases of the skin express doubt about these instances, but at least one authority admits that the thing has occurred in rare cases. The great trouble is that our present knowledge of the way in which the hair grows and of its anatomic structure is difficult to correlate with any possible sudden grayness.

The color of the hair is due to pigment in the shaft. The blood supply of the hair is at the root and does not extend into the shaft. Before the pigment could be destroyed, it would have to be reached by cells coming to the root in the blood.

From our knowledge of the hair and of the rate at which changes usually take place in body tissues, it seems absolutely unreasonable to believe that the long hair of a woman could completely lose its pigment within 24 hours, or, in fact, even in a week. It does seem possible that the hair in a very small spot might fall out and be replaced rapidly by gray hair.

None of the cases reported in scientific literature is scientifically authenticated. Some day some one may take the trouble to provide the necessary evidence to establish the fact as a fact.

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY LEQUIA.

The funeral services which were held for Mrs. Henry Lequia at St. Anne's church Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, were attended by a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. Fr. R. G. Jacques was celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass, assisted by Rev. Fr. A. Waechter and Rev. Fr. Leblanc.

The large number of floral and spiritual offerings received at the home, 309 South Nineteenth street, spoke eloquently of the esteem in which Mrs. Lequia was held by her many friends.

The pallbearers were four sons, Michael, Albert, Israel and Phillip Hutt, and two nephews, Leslie and Oscar Benoit.

Out-of-town relatives included Mr. and Mrs. N. Slatt, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Israel Hutt, Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. John Sauve and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson, Sault Ste. Marie.

MRS. ERNEST FOSTERLING.

Many friends and relatives attended the funeral services which were held Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Joseph's church for Mrs. Ernest Fosterling, formerly Miss Katherine Britz of Lathrop. Rev. Fr. Bonaventure Kilfoyle was celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass and was assisted by Rev. Fr. George LaForest of Flatrock and Rev. Fr. Bertrand Labinski.

Many beautiful flowers and a large number of mass cards surrounded the casket at the family home, tokens of esteem from many friends who were shocked to hear of her sudden death which occurred Saturday evening when she attended a dance at Turin.

The pallbearers were three sons and three brothers of the deceased, Ernest, Jr., Norbert and Clinton Fosterling, and John, William and George Britz.

Interment was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Out-of-town relatives and friends included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fosterling, Danforth; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sauter, Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. M. Bueller and family, Plymouth, Wis.; Reuben Ecke, Sheboygan, Wis.; Herman and Harvey Fosterling, Antigo, Wis.

NAPOLEON MICHAU.

Funeral services for Napoleon Michau were held Wednesday afternoon at the Allo Funeral Home and burial was in the Flatrock cemetery.

Mr. Michau formerly lived at Trenary. He died at a local hospital after an illness of several weeks. A brother, E. J. Michau of Manitowoc, Wis., arrived in the city yesterday to attend the funeral.

A requiem high mass will be offered at the Holy Family church at Flat Rock for Mr. Michau some time next week.

THEMEL INFANT.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, for Charles A. Themel, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Themel, who died at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Boyle, 317 So. 14th St. Tuesday.

Rev. Fr. Mockler will officiate at the services and burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

KONJOLA ENDED INDIGESTION AND NERVE TROUBLE

Young Lady Highly Indorses Master Medicine After It Restored Her To Health.

MISS LORA STINCHCOMB

"Konjola surely did more than was claimed for it in my case", said Miss Lora Stinchcomb, 1207 Prospect street, Ann Arbor. "I first suffered from stomach trouble eight months ago. Indigestion pains that followed every meal were almost unbearable. My nerves soon gave way, and I was irritable and jumpy all the time. I felt discouraged.

"I surely am glad that I gave Konjola a chance, for it quickly relieved all my symptoms. I can eat anything I care to, and indigestion never bothers me. My nerves are quiet, and never cause me the least trouble. I feel better in every way. It is almost unbelievable that one medicine can do all that Konjola has done, but it is a fact. I surely am grateful for it."

Konjola is sold in Escanaba at People's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

What's Your Grievance Now?

The Grievance contest is on. Have you written yours? In addition to the $1 check you may receive if your suggestion is one of the ten best in the opinion of the judges, you may be doing the Cleanup campaign a real service by pointing out something that should be given attention. Send it along, right away)

The Daily Press, this morning, prints the first installment of Pet Peeves, received in the Grievance contest being conducted as a part of the Community Cleanup campaign. Other "grievances" will be printed daily.

Here are a few:

No harm could possibly result from giving the globes on the street lights a Saturday night bath.—KAY.

Dogs in our neighborhood which overturn garbage cans and scatter the contents are my momentary grievance.—AL.

"Just like an Indian village" said a visitor from a western Indian reservation as she looked at my front steps. Mongrel dogs! Sometimes five or six! But the appearance of the street with its neighborhood dogs is even less grievous than the appearance of the gardens and lawns for these same dogs dig holes in your best flower beds and they defile the lawn and claw it into ragged strips. Want Escanaba to look trim and prosperous? Keep the dogs in their own back yards.—Y.

Our grievance is the pets of the city hall—the sparrows. We are taxed to pay a bounty on sparrows. Then the city hall maintains two beautiful nesting places in those cupolus on the roof. That is real grief. The sparrows swarm into our garden and eat lettuce, peas and beets clear into the ground.—N.

Lakeview Cemetery.

Lakeview cemetery came in for a good share of attention from the early entries in the contest. Here are some:

Lakeview cemetery could be made a beauty spot for our city. It seems that without much effort or expense a perpetual care system could be started. With the new highway in use, Lakeview cemetery gives tourists their first impression of Escanaba.—A. R. E.

A man who has traveled widely recently told an Escanaba audience that he can always get an accurate impression of the culture and civilization of a country by the way it cares for its dead. Sometimes I hope no tourists from foreign countries measure the United States that way, especially from a view of Lakeview cemetery taken from the new state highway.—H. L.

My pet peeve is Lakeview cemetery and the entrance. We are the only city of our size that uses wooden gates. Not only that but when you drive up to the cemetery after 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon the gates are padlocked. Who ever heard of such a thing in a civilized community? I, for one, am willing to work to beautify our city to have an up-to-date entrance at Lakeview cemetery.—MRS. C. H.

This Has Been Started.

It would seem to me that no spot in Escanaba could be cleaned up to give greater pleasure to the most people and at comparatively small expense than the small plot between the Stephenson and Hanson & Jensen docks at the foot of Ludington street. I would suggest that grass be planted, some colorful flower gardens made and a few benches placed there as a beginning. This could be elaborated upon at some later time, making it a sun-park where one could sit and watch the boats entering and leaving the harbor, the bathers, the fishermen and motor boats and the glorious sunsets. The location forms the setting for an endless panorama. The beach is sand and the shallow water along the shore affords a splendid place for the children to play while the adult swimmers, at the dock, would find a good "swimmin' hole." Striking evidence of the attractiveness of this spot has already been demonstrated by the number of cars one always finds parked at the foot of Ludington street where the occupants may avail themselves of one of the truly delicious sights of the city—X. Y. Z.

(What's Your Grievance Now? For the ten best, the Chamber of Commerce will pay $1 each. Write your "pet cleanup peeve," preferably on a postal card, and mail it to the Grievance Editor of the Daily Press. Sign your name. The name will not be printed but the judges will want to know where to send your prize check. More "grievances" will be printed in the Daily Press tomorrow.)

Willing Workers Society.

The Willing Workers' Society of the local Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. De Sauthles last Friday. There was an exceptionally large attendance. The annual election of officers took place. The following were elected: President, Mrs. John Haindl; Vice President, Mrs. Bertha Gray; Secretary, Mrs. Jaynes; Treasurer, Mrs. Mortenson.

New Front For City Drug Store

An attractive new front will be installed at the City Drug store building, 1107 Ludington street, at a cost of more than $1,000 by John Fredenberg, local contractor.

Work on the new fronts at the Economy Light company and Tilbert's cafe was completed this week.

A building permit was issued to J. P. Hengesh, 329 South Fourteenth street, to construct a frame garage at a cost of $175. Mirko Shradski, 1431 Sheridan road, secured a permit to build an addition to his home at a cost of $300.

Dumping of Refuse on Street Banned

The street cleaning department is being hampered considerably by some merchants on Ludington street who persist in sweeping the rubbish from their floors into the street.

It is urged that these business houses refrain from this practice, and dump the refuse in containers in the rear of the buildings instead.

Workmen of the street cleaning department have cleaned the streets early in the morning, only to find the street cluttered up with rubbish before noon. Most of this rubbish had been swept out from the stores.

INDIANS GET INTO TROUBLE

Bootlegged Wolf Pelts From Delta to Menominee County

Menominee—While ignorance of the law is no excuse, Joseph Beaver and his son, Mose, Menominee Indians, learned today, when confronted with the possibility of a fine and jail sentence, that it helps some. They learned farther that the attitude of their forefathers to "think heap, talk little" is still good policy.

Just a week ago the Beavers, accompanied by Louis Mishiguad, Indiantown, Harris township, presented two great big wolf pelts to County Clerk Harry Gilbertson and collected $15 bounty for each pelt. The Indians went into details for a Herald-Leader reporter on the killing of the wolves, declaring that the animals were becoming bold and were frightening the squaws and papooses at Indiantown. They said that Joe Beaver had shot both wolves at the edge of a clearing in Indiantown.

Peter Houle, state trapper of Harris, who knows the lairs of wolves like the Indians know the address of the Indian disbursing agent at Washington, read all about the packs of wolves threatening the poor Indians.

'Lo," said Peter, "the poor Indian is trying to slip something over underhand."

"Since when have there been wolves around Indiantown?" Peter asked Louis Mishiguad on a hurried visit to the reservation.

"Huh, huh," answered Louis. "Injuns from Nahma get 'em."

Shot in Delta County

The story Peter told Pros. Atty. K. O. Doyle, was to the effect that Joe and Mose Beaver are from Nahma, Delta County, and that was where Joe Beaver shot the wolves. They brought the pelts to Escanaba on Saturday afternoon, Apr. 27, to collect the bounty but the Delta County court house was closed. The pair came on to Indiantown to visit friends and while there exhibited their pelts, explaining about the Delta office being closed.

Louis Mishiguad, explaining to Joe and Mose that Delta pays but $10 bounty while Menominee pays $15 and they might as well travel on to Menominee and make the extra $10 on the two pelts. They did.

After hearing Houle's story Prosecutor Doyle issued a warrant for the two Beavers and they appeared in Menominee this morning.

Joe Beaver pleaded innocence, declaring he thought it was state bounty and that it was the same in all counties.

"Ignorantia non excusat a lege," solemnly quoted the prosecutor.

"Me no shoot 'em in the leg, me shoot 'em in the head, both times," Joe contradicted.

The prosecutor explained that he had used the Latin phrase to the effect that "ignorance of the law is no excuse."

'Excuse me," said Joe.

"You're excused," declared the prosecutor, "on condition that you refund the $30 bounty you collected."

This was agreeable to Joe on condition that County Clerk Gilbertson would plug up the holes punched in the wolves ears, made when the bounty was paid. Mr. Gilbertson said he would write to the Delta County clerk explaining the situation and that possibly Joe might retrieve $20 on the dead.

Matt Lawrence Honored at Ames

Ames, Iowa., May 3, 1929—Matt Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Lawrence, 1002 South 10th Street, has been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange plans for the float of the Technical Journalism Department, to be included in a big parade during Veishea, the annual all-college celebration to be held at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, May 16, 17 and 18.

Mr. Lawrence was graduated from Escanaba high school in 1926, and was prominent in high school activities, he being a member of the Orange and Black society, president of the Athletic Association, and captain of the basketball team during his senior year. He enrolled in the technical journalism course at Iowa State college, and in this, his freshman year, is serving as assistant issue editor of The Iowa State Student, tri-weekly campus publication.

A student committee has been working on plans for the festival for over two months. A big parade, composed of floats prepared by the students in each department and symbolizing the work in which they are engaged, will be part of the program. Each department will also hold an open house for which will be prepared a display of the work done by the students during the preceding year.

A May Fete will be given by home economics students on the afternoon of May 17 and a musical comedy, "Beauty Mad," will be presented on the nights of May 17 and 18. There will be many other features during this three-day celebration, including athletic events, a horse show, the Ames Egg and Baby Chick Show, agricultural high school judging contests and dances.

26 More Trees Are Contributed For Memory Lane

Cash contributions for 26 more trees for the "memory lane" along Highway U. S. 2-41 were received yesterday by Sherik Elmer Swanson, chairman of the American Legion's memorial tree committee.

The Elks club subscribed for 25 trees and Nick Dugener for the other one.

The 100 elm trees, received this week from a Minesota nursery, will be planted by the Legion members Friday morning, starting at 8 o'clock.

In the last five years the oil production of Argentina has nearly tripled.

Safety Campaign Will Be Conducted in Escanaba

Escanaba will join in the statewide motor vehicle safety test and educational campaign to be held May 20 to June 30, it was announced yesterday by Chief of Police John J. Tolan.

Chief Tolan has been appointed by the Michigan Safety Council, sponsors of the campaign, as chairman of the community safety committee. Dr. A. J. Carlton and George G. Geniesse are the other members of the committee.

The campaign's general objects are:

To aid in effecting more uniform public understanding and official administration of vehicular and pedestrian traffic in streets of Michigan cities and villages and on rural highways.

To instill more vividly and more permanently in the public mind the law which requires that power-driven vehicles be equipped so as to effect adequate mechanical control always.

To attempt to cause every motor vehicle, preferably within a specified time, to be officially tested for: effective brakes, steering control, proper head and signal lights, adequate sound signalling device, windshield wiper, rear-vision mirror for commercial cars, license plates and driver's license.

To bring more directly to the minds of the people the necessity for care in driving power vehicles and in walking across thoroughfares and to emphasize individual responsibility of motorists and pedestrians for general safety.

To re-assert the supreme character of the law; to stimulate community support to public safety officials and traffic courts for the law's complete, impartial and unhampered administration.

To attempt to extend to all communities in all parts of the state the progressive safety results which have been attained in some communities in some parts of the state.

MANISTIQUE TO MAKE WHOOPEE JULY FOURTH

Spurred by the success of the celebration staged in 1928, a group of Manistique business men are already considering plans for another r o using Independence Day program this year, and a mass meeting has been called for Friday evening to discuss preliminary plans and prospects.

The public is invited to the meeting, whihc is called for 8 p. m. in the fire hall, and all those who were interested in the celebration last season are especially urged to attend. There is plenty of enthusiasm in evidence, and it is intended to get a nearly start on preparations.

All those who have any suggestions in mind are asked to be present at the mass meeting Friday and help make the July 4 celebration the best Manistique has ever seen.

BETHANY TONIGHT

A meeting of the Bethany Society of the Swedish Lutheran church will take place tonight at the home of Miss Lilly Nelson, North Third street.

START PRACTICE AT INDIAN LAKE FOR GOLF MEET

In response to invitations from Prin. R. H. Wilson of Manistique high, at least four other upper peninsula schools are to enter teams in the high school golf tournament which will be staged at the Indian Lake course June 1. The schools expected to take part are: Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Menominee, St. Joseph and Manistique.

The state association will furnish the usual regional trophies consisting of a team award for the winning school, also medals for members of the winning team and the low score winner. Qualifying members may enter the state tournament if they wish. In addition, the Manistique University of Michigan Alumni club has purchased a cup which will be awarded to the Manistique player witht the lowest score.

The beautiful grounds at the Indian Lake course, which will be the scene of the meet has been offered to the Manistique players for practice, and there are 16 men trying out for the team. A. F. Hall, superintendent of schools, is in charge of the team.

New Tourist Book Is Out; Has Heavy Demand at Chicago

Delivered direct from the publishers, some 5,000 copies of Manistique's new 1929 tourist booklet are being distributed this week at the Ooutdoor Life Exposition in Chicago.

Copies of the pamphlet, which is just off the lithographers press, have been received in Manistique. In' make-up they are even more attractive than the previous issue, and information contained in them is concise and up to date.

The cover in colors carries a picture of an attractive Indian girl—perhaps it's the sweetheart of Kitchitipipi—and the other decorative effects are in keeping with the subject, suggestive of "Hiawatha Land." Word from Chicago states that the booklets were enthusiastically received at the Upper Peninsula development bureau booth where they are being given out.

MRS. LUNDSTROM ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. E. T. Lundstrom was hostess to the bridge club Tuesday evening at he rhome, Weston avenue. Dorothy Shipman won high honors and Mrs. George Kinsting was second high. There were two tables.

MISS ORR IS HOSTESS FOR MISS PALLIN

Miss Catherine Orr was hostess at a six thirty dinner Wednesday evening at her home, Walnut street, honoring Miss Alice Pallin, who expects to leave Saturday for Chicago. Covers were laid for eight guests.

PLAN DUAL MEET

Tentative plans have been made for a track meet between Manistique and Newberry high teams. It will probably be held the latter part of this month.

Blacksmith Shop at Germfask Destroyed

The Neil McEachern blacksmith shop at Germfask was destroyed, early Tuesday, by a fire of undetermined origin. Other buildings nearby were not damaged by the blaze. The blacksmith shop stood only a few yards from the site of the road camp which burned, a few months ago, with the loss of two lives.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Frederick Willour, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Willour of Manistique, is a patient at St. Francis hospital, Escanaba. He was taken to the institution Monday to undergo treatment for uremic poisoning, from which he has been suffering.

HOSTESS AT EVENING PARTY

Mrs. H. K. Peterson was hostess to two tables of bridge Saturday evening at her home, Sandberg apartment, Cedar street. Mrs. T. H. Bolitho won high honors.

Attorney Frank Lewis son-in-law of the late A. M. Cheabrough of Toledo, Ohio is a business caller in the city this week.

Russell Brault has accepted a position in the Standard Oil Co., office at Manistique.

ADAM AND EVA, SENIOR SHOW, FRIDAY NIGHT

Seat reservations opened Wednesday for the senior class play "Adam and Eva," which will be presented at the high school auditorium Friday evening.

The play is a modern comedy-drama, with a touch of mystery. Uncle Horace, taken by Carl Risley, supplies plenty of laughs, Carlton Walker, as Adam, the dashing hero, shows excellent Romeo technique in overcoming his less accomplished (in this line) rivals Lyle Wilson and Ian McKilligan in the pursuit of Miss King's (Bessie Lou Lanier) hand and heart. The part of Eva's affectionate father is played by Wilbur Thomson. Ethel Scott makes a lovely, demure maid. Aunt Abby, typical American society lady, is admirably personified by Ruth Pizzala. Mrs. Clinton De Witt is Eva's older sister and in real life is Angela Barkovitch. Her husband, Fritz Griffin, assumes that he is the brains of every proposition.

Miss Mary Thompson and Miss Elizabeth Bloom of the faculty coached the play.

Rev. Hugo Speaker at Church Tonight; String Band Plays

Continuing the series of special meetings, services in English will be held tonight at the Swedish Baptist church, starting at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. J. Hugo of Escanaba, known as an interesting and inspiring speaker, will deliver the main address, and there will be special music by the string band.

A good attendance has marked previous meetings, and it is hoped that crowds will increase. Everyone is welcome, and the public is invited.

Diamond Ball Bees Buzzing

It's nearly time for diamond ball activities to get under way at Manistique, and already some of the players are getting hot under the collar, pining for action.

Indications are that a meeting of the team leaders of last year will be called in the very near future to discuss plans for the annual series. It has been proposed this year to have four good teams only, taking the pick of the city players to insure the best games and closest competition.

Escanaba Knights Templar to Visit Manistique Sunday

About 70 members of the Escanaba Commandery, K n ights Templar, will be guests of the Manistique group Sunday for dinner and special church services. The visiting delegation will motor to this city Sunday morning in time to attend the Ascension Day service at the Presbyterian church at 10 a. m. The Knights will march to the church in a body from their hall.

After church, there will be a dinner at Bear Creek lodge, Blaney Park, at which the Manistique Knights will be hosts.

Frederick Ekstrom, River Road Farmer, Dies At His Home

Frederick B. Ekstrom, 42 years of age, a prominent farmer living on the River Road in Manistique township, died yesterday morning at his farm home. He was born in Missouri Nov. 4, 1886, and had been a resident of Schoolcraft county for the last 38 years.

His wife, three children and his aged mother survive.

The funeral will be held Friday morning in St. Francis de Sales Catholic church in Manistique and burial will take place in the local cemetery.

Brotherhood to Plan Activities

Plans for coming activities of the Lutheran Brotherhood are to be discussed at a meeting called for Friday evening at 7:30 in the Swedish Lutheran church.

A full attendance of members is desired.

Thompson Funeral to Be Held Friday

The funeral of Emil Thompson will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the family home in River street, with Rev. V. E. Holmstedt officiating.

PLAN BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be held at the Manistique Light and Power Co., store, May 18 under the auspices of the Mission Circle of the Swedish Baptist church. All kinds of baked goods will be on sale.

MASONIC RITES ON WEDNESDAY

Conduct Funeral Services Here for O. C. Draper of Harvey, N. D.

Impressive services conducted by Gladstone Lodge, Number 396, F. & A. M., were held Wednesday afternoon for Osmer Cole Draper, 57, of Harvey, N. D., formerly of Gladstone, who passed away on Saturday at Bethesda hospital in St. Paul where he had gone for special treatment following a serious illness.

The services were conducted at the home of Mrs. Draper's father, John Latimer, where the body was taken following its arrival here, at 2 o'clock, and at 2:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal Memorial church.

Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor of the church, officiated.

During the services attended by many relatives and friends of the family, Noble Swenson sang "No Night There," and members of the Masonic quartet, Noble Swenson, Ewald Erickson, Walter Olson and Einar Olson sang "Abide With Me."

Members of Gladstone Lodge, Number 396, F. & A. M., meeting at the Masonic Temple at 1:30 o'lcock, attended the services in a body, marching from the Temple to the home and from the home to the church.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of which Mr. Draper was a member, attended the services in a body.

At the close of the services the body was taken to Fernwood cemetery and burial was made there in the family lot.

The Masonic funeral rites were conducted at the grave with Brother A. D. Alguire in charge.

Pallbearers, close friends of the family and members of the Masonic Order, were Henry Kooyer, Glenwood, Minn.; Walter Robinson, Enderlin, N. D.; Martin Nerwick, Harvey, N. D.; William Shaw, Enderlin, N. D.; Edward Kemmer, Enderlin, N. D., and Herbert W. Smith, Gladstone.

Swenson Brothers were in charge of arrangements.

Out-of-town relatives a n d friends here to attend the services included: Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw, Enderlin, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kemmer, Enderlin, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, Enderlin, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nerwick, Harvey, N. D.; Mrs. Edward Olen, Harvey, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kooyer, Glenwood, Minn.; Roy Latimer, Harvey, N. D., as well as those arriving here shortly after Mr. Draper's death, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fillmore and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lince, Flint, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. John Latimer, Minneapolis; Mrs. Roy Latimer, and Mr. Hebbart, Sr., of Ishpeming.

Osmer Cole Draper was born December 11, 1871, at River Junction, Mich. His marriage to Margaret Rebecca L a t i m e r, of this city, took place here on April 4, 1899. The family resided here for some time, later taking up a residence in North Dakota.

Mr. Draper's death on Saturday ended a record of thirty-six years of service for the Soo line.

Mr. Draper was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Harvey; a member of Liberty Lodge, Number 49, F. & A. M.,; of Thistle Chapter, No. 43, Harvey, N. D., and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, 671, of Enderlin.

He leaves to mourn his death his widow, and their son, Livingston, 11 years of age, and two brothers, Charles and Ted Draper of Jackson, Mich.

GOOD CROWD AT REBEKAH CARD PARTY

A fine crowd of Gladstone and Rapid River people attended the Rebekah card party held Tuesday evening at the Eagles' hall, for members and their friends.

Five hundred was played, Mrs. Sunding winning first prize and Miss Fay Chase, consolation; and Alec Cassidy, first prize for men.

A delicious lunch was served after the card contests.

SALVATION ARMY MEETS AT ALTON

A meeting of the Salvation Army will be held at the Alton Grange hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The program will include talks, and vocal and instrumental selections.

The people of the community are cordially invited to attend.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks for the many kindnesses shown us during our bereavement, the loss of our beloved daughter, sister, granddaughter and niece. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Memorial church, those who sent the beautiful flowers and other expressions of sympathy and those who donated the use of their cars. To all who in any way assisted us we will be forever grateful and the memory of their kindness will ever remain with us. Signed: Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson and Lillian, Mrs. Matilda Johnson, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. O. Elmen, Andrew, Carol and Arthur Johnson.

C. E. EBLING CLUB SPEAKER

Tells Rotarians of Farm Situation; District Convention May 16-17

C. E. Ebling, Soo line agricultural agent, gave an interesting talk on the farm situation in general at the regular Wednesday noon luncheon of the Gladstone Rotary club.

Mr. Ebling discussed the surrounding country, stating his belief that it would eventually develop into an ideal farm country.

He spoke of the conditions in cities which are either wholly or partially dependent upon agricultural welfare, emphasizing that their main dependence was in practically all cases upon the life.

He spoke of plans outlined by the Soo line in its agriculture development policy, to be carried out in the near future including a campaign on sheep raising which will be conducted with the aid of a special car which will stop in Rapid River as well as other points along the Soo line, and he invited members of the Rotary interested to be present and to aid in urging attendance at the special meetings of all farmers with whom they might come in contact.

The meetings, he said, will point out what can be done to increase incomes by raising the right breed of sheep and will also emphasize the great possibilities in sheep raising, which is rated as a greater money maker for the farmer than dairying, now their chief source of income.

At the close of Mr. Eblin's talk, Dr. A .H. Kinmond, who is owner of a farm, expressed his views, as did Joseph A. Sturgeon.

Mr. Ebling was introduced by M. J. Magoon of the May program committtee.

A meeting of the board of directors o fthe Rotary club for the discussion of business matters was held imme diately after the program.

Leave After Meeting

The next meeting of the Rotary will be held on Wednesday noon, and immediately following the meeting, Rotarians and their wives, who plan to attend the Tenthit District convention, will leave by car for Wausau, Wis.

Wives of Rotary members who are accompanying their husbands to Wausau, will be guests at the luncheon on that day.

It is expected that a group of eight Gladstone members will attend the convention.

The convention dates are May 16 and 17.

Additional Gladstone News Will be found on Page 8.

AUXILIARY CARD PARTY ON THURSDAY

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will entertain at a card party Thursday evening at the Rialto building.

The party will start at 8 o'clock following a business meeting which will begin at 7 o'clock sharp.

Both bridge and five hundred will beplayed with prizes for the winners.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

The committee in charge is: Nye Quistorf, chairman, and Mesdames L. J. Weingartner, E. J. Roland, Wesley Ward, Chester Young, William Tuffnell, Joseph Trudeau, Clarence Titsworth and S. J. Sword.

Mrs. Charles Nia returned Monday evening from Chelsea and from Milwaukee where she spent the past week with relatives and friends.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 8 (AP) — The stock market struggled with 14 per cent call money for the second successive day today. Pools again made vigorous efforts in a few sections of the list, but were unable to attract a following or to check a small but persistent stream of selling. Total sales again fell short of 3,500,000 shares.

The market displayed more resistance than it did yesterday, the gains a little more than offsetting the losses. Large buying orders placed just under the market in important issues by investment trusts are believed to have provided a cushion for the decline.

The fact that call money failed to come down was both puzzling and disappointing to traders. The high rate had been expected to attract funds from the interior by today at least, and that none have been forthcoming found no other explanation than the speculative credit curtailment operations of the federal reserve officials. Three of the large New York banks were said to be loaned up to the hilt at the reserve bank.

Brokers Uneasy

The only sign of improvement was the failure of yesterday's advances of ¾ of one per cent in bankers acceptance rate to hold for the 150 and 180 day maturities. There was continued uneasiness over the possibility of an increase in the New York discount rate tomorrow and it was taken for granted that brokers' loans would show another substantial increase, particularly in view of the recent volume of new stock offerings. The fact that the Boston bank made no change in its rate after the close today was somewhat reassuring.

Aside from less cheerful reports from the reparations conference, the days news was generally favorable. American Sugar Refining resumed common dividends on $5 annual basis, after a lapse of more than a year. The steel trade reviews said that no decline in products had appeared. American Metal Market said, however, that "some observers are convinced that a decline in automobile production, which cannot be postponed many weeks, will have far reaching consequences, both directly and through a sentimental influence." Iron Age's composite price for big showed an advance of 9 cents to $18.67 a ton.

Wheat Futures Rebound

In the commodity markets, after sagging further to new lows for the past few years, wheat futures rebounded on covering on the theory that the expected bullish government report on winter wheat tomorrow had been more than discounted. Cotton sold higher for a time on better Liverpool cables and a bullish weather report, but closed barely steady.

Foreign exchanges eased somewhat on the less optimistic reports regarding reparations. Sterling cables were slightly lower at $4.85 3-16.

High Money Rates Depress Curb Mart; Specialties Gain

New York, May 8 (AP)—Trading in today's curb market was largely a specialty affair, with the general lists unable to make any appreciable progress in the face of continued high money rates. While there was no extensive liquidation by investors, pools found it extremely difficult to attract a public following except in a few issues in which special developments are pending.

United Corporation, which will be transferred to the "big board" tomorrow, was again one of the most active features, but it moved within a range of two points and showed only slight improvement on the day. Electric Investors was the feature of the public utility group, soaring 14 points to a new high ground at 142 and retaining all but three points of its gain. Southeastern Power & Light issues also moved into new high grounds on a heavy turnover with buying influenced by a rapid expansion in output and reports of market operating economies. Untied Gas Improvement, Utilities Power & Light issues and Electric Bond & Share all closed with moderate gains.

Fokker Aircraft, in which there is said to have been competitive buying for control between the Aviation Corporation of Delaware and Universal Aviation interests, moved up more than three points to new high at 59. Most of the other airplane stocks were heavy presumably on selling influenced by reports of over-expansion in that industry.

New York, May 8 (AP)—Wall Street understands that directors of National Family Stores, Inc., at their meeting May 15 are likely to put the stock on a regular dividend basis. The company operates a chain of 73 retail wearing apparel stores throughout the country. Sales for the current year are estimated at about $7,000,000.

The American Polish Chamber of Commerce is advised that General Motors Polsce, the Polish subsidiary of General Motors corporation, is expanding its activities in Poland through purchase of a site for an assembly plant of larger capacity than the quarters it now leases.

E. H. Clarke, president of Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation, has informed the stockholders that the company's most important undertaking at present is a $15,000,000 construction program on its property in Peru. Production for 1928 totaled 97,769,279 pounds of copper, 29,380,000 pounds of lead; 20,000,000 pounds of zinc; 16,383,847 ounces of silver, and 26,013 ounces of gold.

New York Investors, Inc., reports that it has realized more than $1,000,000 thus far this year from its interest in one real estate development, operated through a syndicate.

Arde Bulova, vice president of the Bulova Watch company, estimates 1929 earnings at more than $5 a share, based on sales for the first three months. The company earned $3.75 on its common in 1928.

Holders of Class A participating and Class B common stock of the Associated Laundries of America, Inc., are offered rights to subscribe to additional shares of Class A participating stock at $11 a share at the rate of two new shares for every five held May 13. Operating results so far this year indicate record earnings for 1929, Chairman J. D. Sweet informed stockholders.

Total bond sales (par value) $11,918,000.

New York, May 8 (AP)—Bonds listed on the exchange were turned over actively in another busy session today with prices continuing to move irregularly lower. As in previous sessions, most of the action was in a few semi-speculative convertibles and specially attractive investment issues.

Traders looking for speculative profit found plenty to attract their attention in the fast-moving convertibles. The stock feature issues fluctuated rapidly all through the session, mostly in keeping with stock movements. With 14 per cent call money serving as a reminder of continued credit tightness, investors were not disposed to take the standard investment issues except at price concessions.

United States government obligations particularly reflected the state of the money market. With liquidation in evidence, they recorded further losses ranging from 2-32 to 15-32 in most issues where there was any sizeable turnover.

Among the most active convertibles, American I. G. Chemical 5½s rallied nearly a point after their recent declines. Alleghany Corporation 5s, American International 5½s, American Telephone 4½s and Atchison 4½s sold a little lower with stocks.

A substantial part of the days trading was in a few rails. St. Paul Adjustment 5s gained fractionally but Missouri Pacific Convertible 5½s, Frisco 4½s and Texas & Pacific 5s found buyers only at lower prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 8—Huge export buying of North American wheat did much today to turn the wheat market here sharply upgrade. Advances of nearly 3c a bushel were scored, although not until most deliveries had gone under any low-price record touched heretofore this season. After the Chicago market closed, it was estimated that North American export business today totaled as high as 5,000,000 bushels.

Closing prices here for wheat were firm at 7-8 to 1 3-4c net gain, with corn ½ to 1 1-8c up, oats ¼ at 3-8 to 3-8 at ½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 45c.

Some uncertainty characterized the course of the Chicago wheat market today just at the start, a severe fresh setback in Liverpool quotations having a temporary influence. Momentary new declines here carried prices to almost 10c below figures which were current last week, but at this stage brisk buying of future deliveries sprang up, and the Chicago market took a strongly independent course, advancing throughout the remainder of the day despite the radical new bearish action of values at Liverpool.

Corn and oats were responsive to wheat strength, together with buying which was linked to assertions that proposed tariff changes would benefit the corn market. Cash demand for corn was excellent, today's arrivals of corn at all points being light.

Provisions averaged higher, reflecting upturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK TEXTILE

New York, May 8—Prices on coarse yarn cotton gray goods were a little easier in some quarters today on further declines in raw cotton, but with insufficient buying interest to give the market a sufficient test. Print cloths were steady and unchanged. Fine goods were in moderate demand. Burlap cables were irregular and prices showed little change, except in spots and afloats where buying had eliminated some low offering levels in heavyweight goods. Plain dye silks were in demand for summer wear. Raw silk spots were unchanged. Japan reported exceptional sales of 2,745 bales, and some said China was sold out until July. Wool goods were in moderate duplicate demand.

Carl Hubbell Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Game

GIANTS TROUNCE PIRATES, 11-0

Only Four Reach First Base on Giant Star Left-Hander

New York, May 8 (AP) — Carl Hubbell, star left-hander of the Giant staff, entered the hall of baseball fame at the Polo grounds today by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the Pirates. The Giants pounded Jess Petty, Fred Fussell and Remy Kremer for 12 hits and 29 bases, including two home runs by Melvin Ott and one each by Chuck Fullis and Andy Cohen. The home team won eased up behind Hubbell's fine effort, 11 to 0.

Hubbell's performance was the first no-hit game in the majors since August 1, 1926 when Ted Lyons of the White Sox let down the Red Sox without a safety. It was the first hitless effort by a southpaw since June 3, 1918, when Hub Leonard whitewashed the Tigers. And the first by a Giant pitcher since Jess Barnes' almost perfect effort against the Phillies on May 7, 1922. Barnes retired 27 Philadelphia batsmen, but a pass midway of the game robbed him of the higher honor of a no-man-to-reach-first record.

Four pirates reached first base on Hubbell, and a fifth registered a technical arrival at that station —Lloyd Waner who forced Adams for the third out in the third after Sparky had walked. Adams raced to second in the first when Travis Jackson made a wild throw of his grounder, and moved to third on Lloyd Waner's sacrifice.

As Hubbell moved into the ninth inning with a no-hit game in his grasp, the Giant defense became uneasy, over anxious. Fullis first misjudged Riconda's liner and then dropped it for an error. Jackson fumbled Adams' bounder, and Hubbell was in a hole—but just as cool as he had been through the tense afternoon. He got Lloyd Waner on a called third strike and forced Brother Paul to hit into a double play—Hubbell to Jackson to Terry.

Only six balls were driven past the infield on Hubbell all afternoon.

The score:

Pittsburgh	R	H	E
------ 000 000 000—	0	0	2
New York 222 005 00x—11	12		3

Petty, Farrell, Kremer and Hargreaves; Hubbell and O'Farrell.

REDS LOSE AGAIN

Philadelphia, May 8 (AP) — Phil Collins pitched the Philadelphia Nationals to their third successive victory today by defeating Cincinnati, 3 to 2. The former New Orleans right hander, starting his first game for the Phillies, pitched tight ball, allowing seven scattered hits.

Adolpho Luque, who surrendered the same number of hits as Collins, was in tough luck for the three Phillie runs were unearned. Horace Ford hit a home run for Cincinnati in the second inning. Both pitchers had excellent control, Collins walking only two batters and Luque one.

The score:

Cincinnati 010 001 000—	2	7	2
Philadelphia ------ 000 300 00x—	7	7	2

Luque and Gooch; Collins and Davis.

Sweep Out Wins Newton Stakes At Jamaica Track

New York, May 8 (AP)—Registering her fifth consecutive victory of the season, Sweep Out, the three-year-old bay daughter of Sweep On-Dugout, gave a great exhibition of speed today to win the Newtown Claiming Stakes at Jamaica.

It was W. R. Coe's filly's fourth win of the Jamaica meeting, her fifth race having been won at Tijuana last winter.

With D. Lyons in the saddle the little filly romped home four lengths in front of Caroler, which beat Contemplate by a like distance. London Rock was fourth and last.

The colors of W. J. Salmon and Mrs. E. Trueman were carried to victory at Pimlico in the Graded Handicaps, which featured today's card. In Class C, Black Diamond, a big outstanding colt by Black Toney, beat his field in a gallop, which Searcher took Class B by a length in a driving finish with Lieutenant II.

Dopesters Await Running Of The Preakness, Friday

Baltimore, May 8 (AP)—While race followers at Pimlico poured over statistics of candidates for the Preakness honors on Friday, there was little activity among the probable starters.

Only three of the horses nominated for the $50,000 added feature were given workouts this morning. Grey Coat, Samuel Ross' colt, son of Gnome and Lady Grey, gave the "dope" students cause for thought by speeding over a mile and a quarter in 2:09 3-5. Another well supported Preakness candidate was taken over the mile and a quarter route today, Dr. Freeland being clocked at 2:12 for that distance. The only other nominee for the rich stake to appear in the morning work was Walter M. Jeffords' Man o' War colt, Constitution, which did three-eighths of a mile in 39 seconds.

TIGERS MAKE IT SIX IN ROW

Uhle Turns in Fifth Straight Victory as Senators Lose, 5-4

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—By working 8 hits for 5 runs while the Washington Nationals were able to convert 13 safeties into only 4 tallies, the Detroit Tigers today chalked up their sixth consecutive victory. George Uhle incidentally turned in his fifth win in as many starts this year.

The number of men who died on the bases spelled the margin of difference between the Tigers and Senators. Twice Uhle and the men back of him pulled the fat out of the fire with the bases loaded. Only six Tiger baserunners were left on the path, while 13 potential runs were so wasted by the Senators. Clyde Milan started a right handed pitcher and ended with a portsider, Irvin Hadley giving way to Lloyd Brown in the sixth.

The veteran Uhle's record was preserved unblemished more through the fly chasing ability of his mates than through his own efforts. After Uhle had advanced Sam Rice to second in the first inning by a wild pitch, Harry Rice prevented his namesake from scoring by taking Judge's line drive while sliding on his face.

Bluege's double in the ninth also might have tied up the score very easily, for it lacked only a foot or so of passing over the left field wall.

Heilmann's Bat Helps

Harry Heilmann's bat again proved the most efficient run producing bludgeon in the Tiger lineup. His double to left field in the first inning scored Gehringer, who had singled, and in the fifth he scored Johnson, who reached third through a walk and an error, with a long sacrifice fly to center field. The same error which advanced Johnson, a fly which Sam Rice missed, permitted Uhle to score. Gehringer also scored in that inning on a single by Alexander.

The other Tiger counter came in the second, a wild pitch by Hadley being responsible. Marty McManus doubled to left field and after being sacrificed to second by Phillips came home on Hadley's misthrow.

Phillips presented the Senators with their first run by missing a pitched ball in the fifth inning and Sam Rice subsequently scored, after singling, on a single by West. A fielder's choice which put Goslin on first and successive singles by Judge, West and Barnes scored two more for the Senators in the seventh.

Boston Braves are Dethroned; Lose To Cards, 10 to 2

Boston, May 8 (AP)—Cavorting over the home plate eight times in a single inning, the first, the St. Louis Cardinals evened its series with the Braves by taking the second game today, 10 to 2. The defeat, together with Chicago's victory over Brooklyn today, put the Braves out of the league lead for the first time this season.

Sherdel held the home team to four hits and the St. Louis batsmen knocked Leverett and Wertz out of the box in the first before anyone was out. Douthit led the Cardinal onslaught with two doubles and two singles, although Hafey managed to squeeze in three singles and a double.

Maranville was put out of the game in the first inning for disputing a decision by Umpire Stark on High's steal of second base after the latter's team had made its eight runs.

FACULTY WINS FROM O-B BOYS

Teachers Cop Annual Indoor Ball Game by 11 to 3 Score

The Escanaba high school pedagogues although advanced in years, were spry enough to defeat the youthful Orange and Black lads in the seventh Orange and Black-Faculty indoor baseball game at the high school gymnasium last night by a score of 11 to 3. The score shows that the game of indoor baseball has becaue an accomplished art at the school as in recent years the teams were lucky if they could prevent each other from scoring less than twenty runs and the total count at the close of the games in the past would closely resemble the German war debt.

The Faculty team, with Puckelwartz captain and pitcher de luxe, started the fracas in their half of the first inning by clouting Bob Snow's offerings all over the gym and marked up five tallies before the side was retired. Soderberg, Grab, Edick and Puckelwartz led the offensive drive, Sody's two-bagger starting the fireworks. The teachers, after being blanked in the second frame, came back to chalk up three more runs in the third with the "Murderer's Row" again carrying the offensive brunt. The Faculty scored once in the sixth and twice in the seventh, Lyle Shaw's home run helping the cause along materially.

Rally Fails.

Puck had the Indian sign on the schoolboys during the first five frames, each inning ending with a pretty goose egg chalked up for the O-B lads. In the sixth the students began to get next to Coach Puck's curves and they scratched across a single tally, adding two more in the seventh, only to find that their belated rally was in vain.

Bob Snow, pitching for the Orange and Black, played a stellar game and with any kind of support might have turned back the teachers. He struck out eleven of the 21 putouts but his playmates gave him eradicate support. Puckelwartz sent 15 of the schoolboys away from the plate with peevish looks.

Besides his clever work in the box for the peds, Puck practically won his own game by getting four hits in four trips to the platter. Edick, who last year broke the strikeout record by fanning five times, came back strong last night with two hits and three runs. Baldwin scored two hits out of three trips to the plate for the best O-B record. He was the only schoolboy to get two hits.

Ted Baldwin, Michigan, with his stenorian voice was the official arbiter. When Ted calls 'em, they stay called. The fans, players and coaches, were unanimous in their praise of his work.

As a result of last night's fracas, the Faculty will retain permanent possession of the horseshoe, emblematic of the Escanaba high school indoor baseball championship.

Gordon Baird and David Peterson, fighting for the lightweight championship of the school, boxed to a draw as a preliminary to the baseball game. Boxing experts claim that Baird was saved from a knockout in the last round by the bell.

The high school girl's "Farmerette' band and the Orange and Black "Peppers" played during the game.

Aristocrats And Sox Join Forces

The Aristocrats and White Sox, local junior league baseball teams have joined forces and will play as one team in the future, the new manager, Andy Lang, has announced. The first game scheduled for the revised outfit is with Wells which will be played at the C. and N. W. diamond Sunday afternoon. Batteries for the Escanaba team will be LaCrosse, McGee or Perryman, and Gabourie.

YANKEES TRIM BROWNS, 8 TO 1

Maintain League Lead by Half-Game Advantage on Athletics

St. Louis, May 8 (AP)—Defeating the Browns here today by a score of 8 to 1, the Yankees maintained their place at the top of the league standing and dropped the St. Louis team deeper into third place. The Athletics remained within half a game of the champions by winning from the White Sox in Chicago. The victory was the sixth straight for the Hugmen.

Waite Hoyt held the home team to five well scattered blows in hanging up his fourth victory of the season. He was aided materially by Lou Gehrig who slapped his seventh home run to start the sixth inning, breaking a 1 to 1 tie and giving the Yanks the run which eventually won.

Walter Stewart was pounded for 12 hits by the champions before he departed to permit George Blaeholder to pitch a hitless and runless ninth round.

2ND VICTORY OVER DODGERS

Guy Bush Is Effective; Allows Brooklyn But Seven Safeties

Brooklyn, May 8 (AP)—The Cubs marched into first place today through their own 4 to 2 victory over the Robins at Ebbets Field and the St. Louis victory over the Braves at Boston, 10 to 2. It was the second straight Chicago triumph over the Flatbush flock.

Guy Bush was unsteady at the start, but gained effectiveness as he went along. He held the Robins to seven hits, one of which was Rube's Bressler's home run in the first round.

Doug McWeeny faltered in the sixth, when one error by himself and another by Herman helped the McArthy team to three runs. It was McWeeny's second start against the Cubs in two days and his second defeat by them.

Tilden and Hunter Sail For Europe; Give U. S. Outside Chance to Regain Davis Cup

By TED VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, May 8 (AP) — Far from conceding world tennis supremacy to the French for another year, Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, sailing at midnight to tackle the tri-color stars in the big European tournaments, expect the United States to be in there battling for everything, including the Davis cup.

Praising America's younger players, Hunter predicted that the newly named team of John Hennesse, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, with George Lott as emergency man, will sweep through the home zone and on to Europe without losing a single Davis cup match.

Tilden went his partner one better by declaring a conviction that the Americans will down the Italians in the inter-zone final, "winning by four matches to one, at least," and then will meet the French in one challenge round "with an outside chance for us to lift the cup."

Whether Tilden and Hunter will be used in the all-important foreign phases of the Davis cup campaign still is a question, but Big Bill said quite frankly that they are available if desired by the Davis cup committee.

French Improve

If America does regain some of its lost tennis laurels this season, thinks Tilden, it will not be because of any loss of strength on the part of the French team. Cochet, La Coste, Borotra and company are going to be better than ever, he is convinced.

Summing up, Tilden said:

"I look to see France successfully defend the cup but only after a hard and desperate battle. I believe there is an outside chance for us to lift the cup, but it certainly is not an even one." Hunter added the information that he and Tilden would go after three titles in both the French and British championships, the main objectives of the campaign they are starting. Besides playing in singles and pairing together in the tandem division, Hunter is to team with Helen Wills and Tilden with Molla Mallory to give the United States a couple of top-notch mixed doubles entries.

Spring Football Practice at Michigan Ending; Name Track Team

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Six points were all two moiling football teams were able to make here today in the first of two football games ending the spring practice. The score came to Tad Wieman's Reds, who were bucking "Cappy" Cappons' Blues, and sends the two teams into the game tomorrow on about even terms.

First year men had much to do in the play of the games but the score was the work of veterans, a pass by Simrall to Wheeler creating the points.

The game was a slow and difficult one because the coaches had to explain each play by charts before it was started. Individually a good many of the men looked like the proverbial million dollars, but team-work and cohesion was as wanting as sunshine has been through most of spring practice.

While the football men were taking this game seriously in preparation of the final tilt tomorrow. Coach Steve Farrell's track men were taking things rather easy. The squad was on edge for Iowa and will be given little chance to go stale.

Meet Golfers in Track

Farrell named 22 well or less known athletes who will leave for Minnesota Friday morning in the Wolverines' first track invasion of the northwest.

In addition to Captain Ketz, the men named were Tolan, Grodsky, Dale and Dalton Seymour, Benson, Lomont, Monroe, Austin, Tarbill, Potter, Arendt, Poorman, Sanderson, Carlson, Erickson, McLellan, Felker, Williams, McArthur, Brubaker and Brooks.

Authorities predict for the Future what DODGE BROTHERS OFFER TODAY

"The all-metal seamless body is the auto body of the future," George J. Mercer, consulting body engineer and chairman of the body division of the Society of Automotive Engineers, predicted at a meeting of the Cleveland Section of the S. A. E.—Automotive Daily News, February 12, 1929.

In the exclusive Mono-piece Body of the new Dodge Brothers Six, you find the identical type of design and construction to which leading automotive engineers point as "the body of the future."

Literally one-piece, the Mono-piece Body is positive proof against squeaks and rattles.

Even after thousands of miles of hardest usage it remains as tight, as firm and as noiseless as when new.

Providing an abundance of room with a new degree of grace, the Mono-piece Body is stylishly trim. Doors and windows are wide.

In fact, the Mono-piece Body, in every way, stamps the new Dodge Brothers Six as the herald of a new era of greater beauty, greater comfort and even greater dependability in motor car design and construction.

Ganfield Lists Requisites Of "Worth While" Community

Answering his topic question, "What Makes a Town Worth Living In?" Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll College, speaking at a Chamber of Commerce forum meeting in the Delta hotel last night, listed requisites:

Economic opportunities to its young people to make a livelihood;

Beauty and cleanliness;

Schools and churches;

Community spirit;

Streets that are well-paved and well-kept;

Will power and the capacity to make a decision.

Reputation and character.

Dr. Ganfield paid a forceful tribute to the economic leadership which guarantees the prosperity of a community. The prosperity of the United States, he declared, has been brought about because American wealth became American capital to be invested in American inventions. In the fifty years between 1876 and 1926, he pointed out, the per capita wealth of the United States has been increased from $600 to $3,000. In Great Britain, the per capita wealth in 1926 was only $400. This prosperity, he asserted, is a result of the faith which American capital has had in American institutions. "And it would have worked out the same way for any other nation," he asserted. "One Henry Ford, today, in Mexico would be worth more to that country than any other contribution that could be made."

Beauty Is Important.

The same principle which has made the nation, as a whole, prosperous, he insisted, will bring prosperity to a city or a community.

"Nothing sells a town to a stranger as quickly as the beauty of the place," Dr. Ganfield went on. Clean and attractive streets and lawns, parks and flowers have a definite and valuable place in any community. He urged business men not to discount the importance and the worth of the citizen to whom "the town beautiful" is the primary consideration.

Describing the churches and schools as the "lungs" of the community, "breathing in new ideals and new inspiration," he asserted that unless these "lungs" are strong and healthy, there can be no strong and vigorous city.

Community spirit, he said, is "not something vague, and intangible. It is as definite as any of the physical characteristics of the town." He said "without that spirit—the spirit of co-operative effort and interest—there can be no progress."

"I like a town," he continued, "that has will power—a mind of its own. I like a community that can attack a question intelligently and work it out.

"And I want a town to have character and a reputation. I want it to stand for something worth while." Mentioning the names, Reno and Boston, he asked his hearers to think, for a minute, what they suggest to the average person. "Now Reno is vastly better than its reputation, and Boston is not half as good as it is generally supposed to be," he said, "but their reputations stand. That's the way it is with any community. And reputation is something very valuable to any city, just as it is valuable to the individual."

Dr. Ganfield's address was one of the principal events in Escanaba's Cleanup campaign. The forum was well attended and the talk received with great enthusiasm. J. H. Slater, general chairman of the Cleanup campaign committees of the Chamber of Commerce, presided. Rev. Carl E. Berger led the group in singing. Music was furnished by Charles Johnson and his Wolverines.

BLAZE RAZES GARDEN HOME

Joseph Rochefort Family Loses Virtually All Belongings

Garden, Mich., May 8 (Special)—The farm home of Joseph Rochefort and family at LaSalle corner, half way between Garden and Fayette, was burned to the ground early this morning, causing a loss of about $2,000. The fire is believed to have been caused by a defective chimney.

The fire began about midnight while Mr. and Mrs. Rochefort and six children were asleep. A large fire had been built before the family retired.

The family fought the fire all alone, but the only contents they could save were a davenport, chair and table. The house is located in a secluded spot, where there is little chance of receiving outside help. Ruins of the house were still smoldering at 7 o'clock this morning.

Sparks from the burning home lodged on the top of the windmill and ignited some wooden parts, the blaze presenting a strange sight.

One of the finest barns in this region was burned on the same farm two years ago.

The farm is owned by the Caspar Brothers of Garden.

Rev. J. C. Evans to Hold Last Service Here Next Sunday

Rev. John C. Evans, who recently resigned as rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church here to become rector of St. Chrysostom's church in Chicago will conduct his last service in the local church next Sunday.

Mr. Evans is now on a partial leave of absence while he is filling the position of religious editor of the Chicago Tribune. His first Sunday service at St. Chrysostom's church will be on Sunday May 19.

He will not move his family to Chicago, however, until the close of the Escanaba school year and plans to spend Wednesday of each week in this city in the meantime.

Birthday Party

A pretty birthday party was given at the home of Mrs. Andrew Buckland, 1225 Twenty First street Tuesday afternoon at which she received a purse of silver and many gifts by thirty of her friends and neighbors.

A series of five hunderd and bunco was played. The honors received at five hundred were: first Mrs. William Raleigh; Mrs. A. B. Cool second, and consolation went to Mrs. Jackson. The bunco honors were awarded: first, Mrs. Ernest Erickson; second Mrs. Edward Cretens, and consolation, Mrs. John Sandberg. The door prize was awarded Mrs. Edwin Carlson.

After the games a delightful luncheon was served after which the guests departed wishing Mrs. Buckland many more happy birthdays.

Redemptorists to Hold Missions In Other U. P. Cities

The two Redemptorist Fathers Rev. Fr. Legris and Rev. Fr. Leblanc who are at present conducting a very fine and successful mission at St. Anne's church and whose sermons are drawing large crowds at each service will conduct similar missions in the surrounding places in this Diocese.

The mission at St. Anne's church will close Sunday evening at the 7:30 o'clock services when solemn benediction will be given with the blessed sacrament and an English sermon will be preached.

Next week May 12 to 19 the two missionaries will preach a mission St. Frances Xavier's church at Spalding where Rev. Fr. J. Schaul is the pastor. The week following Father Legris will conduct a mission at St. George's church at Bark River which is Rev. Father Breault's parish and Father Leblanc will conduct a mission in Rev. Fr. Philip de Neri Jutris, parish at Sacred Heart church at Schaeffer.

The week following beginning May 26th to June 2nd Rev. Fr. Legris will conduct a mission at St. Charles' church at Rapid River where Father J. E. Guertin is the pastor. Rev. Fr. Leblanc will return to Canada the latter part of May.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services at St. Anne's church this week and hear these eloquent orators at the mission masses 5:30 and 8 o'clock and at the evening services, at 7:30 o'clock.

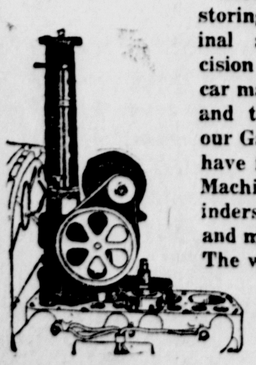
STORMIZING

ADDS 20,000 MILES TO THE LIFE OF YOUR MOTOR

Triples the LIFE of your MOTOR

FIFTEEN to twenty-five thousand miles is usually the point where cylinders become worn and wasteful with loss of power and less miles per gallon of gas. Pistons and rings must be replaced and the cylinder walls must be restored to their original true and accurate condition if the car is to operate economically and satisfactorily.



Stormizing is a process of restoring cylinders to their original accurate condition. Precision machines are used by the car manufacturer in first boring and then honing cylinders—in our Garage it is no different. We have installed a real precision Machine that RE-ALIGNS cylinders square with crankshaft and makes them uniform in size. The walls are then finished to a glass finish. Our prices are moderate and every job is guaranteed.
